The RV Show will take place from 4 to 9 p.m., on Friday, June 24, from 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., on Saturday, June 25 and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, June 26, in back of Antioch High School.

The Arts and Crafts Fair will go one from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., on Sunday, July 10, at Williams Park with artists and craftsmen from all over setting up their tempting and original wares for visitors' perusal.

Maxwell St. Days, the weekend everyone waits for all summer when top drawer merchandise will be available at special sale prices, is set for July 28, 29, 30 and 31, Thursday through Sunday. This is the time when village retailers move merchandise still in season out onto the streets, making shopping a discount adventure.

Library takes needs survey in 2 of 3 homes

The Antioch Twp. Library will be surveying two out of every three households in the Antioch Twp. area this week. The library will be asking questions which will help it tailor its collection to meet the needs of the community better.

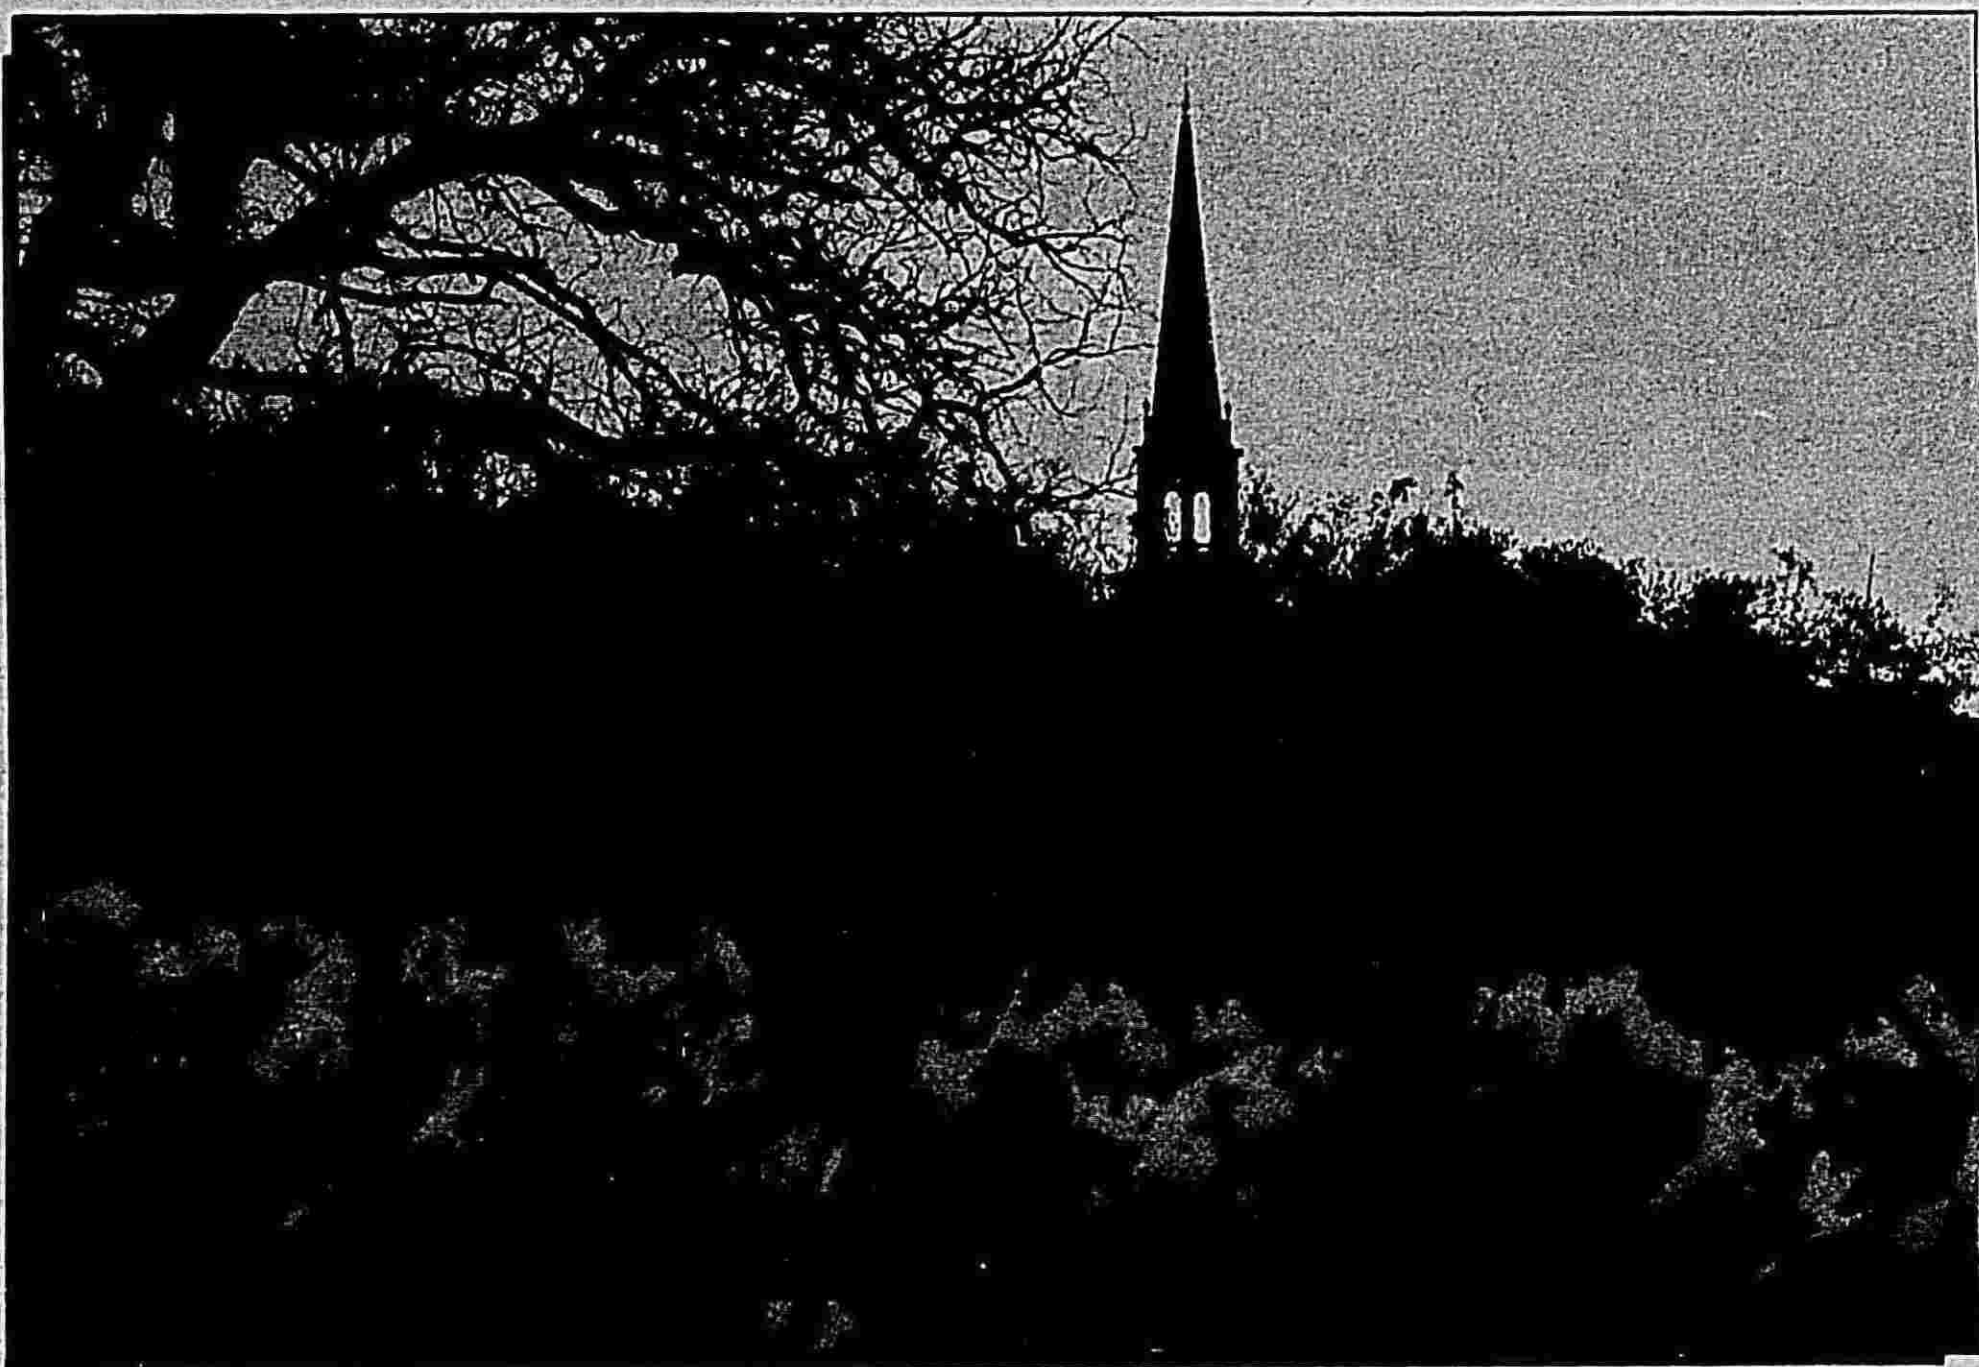

The questionnaire itself is designed to be a self-mailer. It requires no postage to be returned. The library would appreciate it being returned by May 31, either by mail or dropped off at the library.

No names or addresses are being asked to ensure anonymity. Prompt response from the general public will be appreciated.

The results of the survey will be ready for public inspection around July 1. The information gathered will be used to apply for a per capita grant from the State of Illinois.

Apartment ordinance fails, salary cut

by GLORIA DAVIS

The proposed village ordinance banning the building of apartments on top of new commercial buildings and making such existing apartments non-conforming failed to pass the Antioch Village Board on Monday for lack of a second.

Trustee Don Amundsen, pointed out that the proportion of apartments going up in the village to single family homes was unbalanced, with the apartments far outnumbering the new single family dwellings. "This is not what we want," said Amundsen.

Other trustees pointed out that the new apartments were attractive and an asset to the village while Economic Dev. Dir. Don Davis told the board that most of the surrounding towns had just as many apartments in the residential sections, adding that apartments in commercial sections were an added plus for the elderly and complimented the commercial community.

Other suggestions to restrict apartment building instead of the ordinance were to require proper parking and Trustee Bob Wilton said that "a moratorium could be put on apartment building."

Wilton made a motion against the passing of the ordinance which was passed with only Amundsen voting against it.

Another proposed ordinance amendment was passed concerning conforming additions to existing buildings. The 4-2 OK, with Trustees Rod White and Vern Barnstable voting no, means that builders of additions to existing buildings are not bound by the masonry ordinance but they have to appear before the board to get permission to build without the required masonry.

The board also heard from a representative of the Metropolitan Drug Enforcement Agency that Antioch had joined the group and it will be "just like having a narcotics squad in the Antioch Police Dept.," to help clean up any drug problem in Antioch.

After a representative of Northern Ill. Family Dining, Inc., the firm that proposes to build a Burger King fast food restaurant on the site of the Liddle farm and vegetable stand on Rte. 173, petitioned for a zoning variance, showing plans for the project, the board followed both the plan and zone commissions recommendations and granted the petition which changed a total B3 zoning to two lots B3, one B2 and one R2.

Other concerns on the Burger King project discussed included landscaping screening the restaurant at the south end of the project and the number of ingress and egress roads to be utilized because of the high traffic volume in the area.

It was decided that that decision would be up to IDOT.

The board also made the 50 percent cut in the next mayor's salary official and passed the ordinance calling for the next village clerk to be appointed.

Republicans will raise funds at annual dinner

U.S. Rep. Lynn Martin (R-Loves Park), of the 16th Congressional Dist. in northwestern Illinois, will be the keynote speaker at the 1988 fundraising dinner of the Lake County Republican Federation on Friday, May 20, at the Mundein Holiday Inn.

Federation Vice President Samuel K. Skinner, who arranged the program, hailed Martin as one who "in a relatively short period of time has proven herself to be one of the most talented members of Congress. Her capabilities were recognized by fellow members when they elected her to a leadership position for the Republican minority."

Martin, as vice chairman of the Republican Conference, is the first woman elected to a top responsibility in the House of Representatives. She is a national co-chairman of Vice President George Bush's presidential campaign, and, in Illinois, is campaign co-chairman with Lt. Gov. George Ryan.

Martin has two daughters, Julia and Caroline. She is married to Federal Dist. Court Judge Harry Leinenweber and lives in Loves Park in Winnebago County.

Paul H. Robinson, Jr., of Lake Bluff, former U.S. ambassador to Canada, is dinner chairman. Federation Vice President David L. Amory of Lake Forest will head patron ticket sales. Patron tickets will again be $175 per person. Also the same price as last year are dinner tickets at $50 per person. In charge of dinner ticket sales are state Sen. David Barkhausen of the 30th Dist., and Sybil Yastrow, regional Martin also worked for Bush in the 1984 presidential race.

Now in her fourth term in Congress, Martin is a member of the House Armed Forces Committee. In previous terms, she served on the Budget, Public Works, Transportation and House Administrative committees.

superintendent of schools.

A reception for all dinner guests will take place between 6 and 7:30 p.m. Buyers of patron tickets will get a chance to meet Rep. Martin at a pre-dinner get-together in the Loose Caboose room of the Holiday Inn.

Rep. Martin will speak at 7:45 p.m. She will be introduced by U.S. Rep. John Porter of the 10th Dist. Music for dinner dancing will be provided by the Nick Drozdoff Ensemble.

"Because this is a presidential election year, said Federation President Ned L. Fisher of Waukegan, "there is heightened interest in issues and programs. With the knowledgeable and quick-witted Martin analyzing the presidential and congressional races, we expect a record attendance." Fisher said Martin's appearance will prove extremely timely since she was a leading member of the Bush campaign committee. Moreover, Fisher pointed out, Martin is frequently referred to as possible running mate for Bush.

Carmel holds school prom

Finalists for the 1988 prom court at Carmel High School are Wendy Slater of Mundein, Michelle Soucie of Gurnee, Suzanne Wolff of Lindenhurst, Laura Kroll of Waukegan, and Kandace Zgonina of Long Grove.

In keeping with Carmel's 25th anniversary celebration, the special guest of honor will be Linda Biondi, Carmel's first prom queen. She will crown one of the finalists at approximately 9 p.m. the night of the prom.

The formal dinner dance will be held on Friday, May 6, at the Chevy Chase Country Club in Wheeling from 6:30 p.m. to midnight.

United Way needs set

United Way of Lake County has targeted three high priority service areas for special, one-time funding: day care for low income families, with a special emphasis on infants; illiteracy; and emergency assistance to individuals or families experiencing catastrophic illness or disability. A total of $75,000 has been earmarked to fund initiatives in those areas.

Schmidt looking to explode

by IRIS MAYFIELD

Suzie Schmidt is a short stick of dynamite, a bundle of energy, waiting to explode around Lake County. Most recent evidence of her powers is her bang-up job against long-standing county politicians like Jim Fields, and Fred Popp. She overpowered them in her vote-getting ability in the race for the Republican nomination for Dist. 4 County Board member last month.

Schmidt said of her win, "I know I could not have won without a grass roots movement. I've been involved with issues not necessarily appealing to politicians in Lake Villa Twp."

Known as the Swamp Queen to a few intimates, she has planted herself squarely against those who would infringe on the Lake Villa Twp. environment and its people.

Schmidt said, "I found out the village of Lake Villa was dumping sewage into Deep Lake. I was told that during heavy rains, they did not have a place to put sewage, and was told to butt out."

Schmidt pursued the situation with residents on Deep Lake and with Lake Villa Twp. Trustee Ron Geer.

Schmidt said, "We got action to stop. I'm a strong environmental advocate. These are the issues I hit hard in the campaign and will continue to. There have been a lot of issues I feel strongly about. If politicians don't like it, too bad."

Schmidt said she would make changes in her life if elected to the County Board in Nov. She said, "I can't do the County justice by carrying a full-time job. It's got to take a lot of my time."

One might be apt to get ahead of the situation and think Schmidt, as a stick of dynamite, has already exploded leaving bits and pieces of herself all over Lake County. No. She hasn't exploded yet, but it is true that there are bits and pieces of her all over Lake County.

She now works at the Waukegan YMCA, "doing public relations on special events." She is Lake Villa Twp.

trustee in charge of parks and recreation, and she says that this is a busy time with budgeting and planning and, she's been meeting with a lot of citizen's groups, she said. She's now State Director of the Illinois Lake Management Association (ILMA). She said that every other month the four state directors meet and set a year's goal. "This year's goal is doing some hands-on lake work," Schmidt said, however, she wouldn't continue with ILMA once elected to the County Board.

"I taught school for 13 years, 12 years at Lotus Elementary in Spring Grove. I was the first and last art teacher." She also taught one year at Gavin School. She said, "That's when cuts came to art, music, and libraries."

"The children that I taught in grammar school voted for me. I got lots of calls from them," she said. Schmidt worked for the Village of Lindenhurst as recreation director for five and a half years. "I've been really lucky. I've had a lot of careers," she said.

She also was a professional ski instructor for 10 years at Majestic Hills in Lake Geneva, and lost Valley in Spring Grove, then director for one year. "Fun," she said.

She looks athletic, well-toned and tanned. She usually wears her long hair in an easy drawn-back style that shows off her dark eyes. She was stylishly dressed for the interview, her own stylishness.

"I always knew I wanted to be an art teacher and involved or have some say-so in determining where I lived," she said, adding, "I think growing up in the 60s created this. I grew up in a time of question. I went to Southern Illinois where I had a dual major in art and recreation."

Commenting on her local environment, Schmidt said, "I drive down Grand Ave., and I see where woods are being torn out for sewers and I try not to look, and I do and I have to do something. Somebody has to do it. I just can't not do it." That statement nearly took her out of her chair and very noticeable was the intent in her dark piercing eyes.

"I don't need the money; stress or heartburn. I chose to live her 14 years ago because it was open and there were trees and animals, and I do not want to see it slowly destroyed. I'm doing it out of selfishness." To explain some of on Cedar Lake in 1974. "I wanted lake and land," she said. Bob learned how to be a handyman real fast, she said, and added that they are still working on the house. It was built in 1926.

It's a home with a unique view of the environment; the lake, the woods, Suzi's green-thumbed gardens that her political savvy, she said, "I've been going to County board meetings for a year and a half. I know what's going on. I went to building and zoning meetings. I was boning up on stuff."

Schmidt said that three years ago her ticket took 72 percent of the vote running against Fred Popp's ticket. She said, "That was a signal that the township was ready for a change."

Schmidt said she ran on environmental and building and zoning issues. She said, "Similarly, people moved out here to breath."

Suzi and Bob Schmidt were married 18 years when they bought their home sprout everywhere, and the woods nearby which have been restored with groups of indigenous plants from Suzie's hands-and-knees planting and care. Some of the plants are Jack-in-the-pulpits and Virginia bluebells.

Getting back to the beginnings of her political career, Schmidt said, "I was the first Lake Villa-Lindenhurst woman to join the Jaycees in 1984, and that year I became Jaycee of the year."

"I was nominated in 1985 for Outstanding Young Women in America. She said, "Bob is so supportive. He took off this last week and a half to work on my campaign."

Set June 11 for cystic fibrosis bike-a-thon

The first sign of spring in Antioch will appear on June 11 when bicyclists come out for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-a-Thon.

Local chairperson Tim Wells of the park district, announced that this year's event is named "Campaign for a Cure". All funds raised will go towards research for a cure for cystic fibrosis, the number one genetic killer of children and young adults.

To participate, a bicyclist solicits pledges for each mile he rides. Prizes are won based on the amount of pledges he collects.

A new feature in the event is that a participant can select the prize he prefers in the prize level he reaches. Each bicyclist can win a t-shirt, sports wallet watch, over-the-shoulder can cooler, 35mm camera, Casio keyboard, shower radio, portable cassette player, 55-quart cooler and five-inch TV.

Wells is looking for people to participate or to volunteer at the event. For more information, call Wells at (312)395-2160.

Renovation, expansion at St. Stephen's underway

by GLORIA DAVIS

The new addition being put onto St. Stephen's Lutheran Church, at Rte. 59 and Hillside Ave., is under construction.

There will be 5,400 square feet of new classrooms, fellowship space, office space and a new vestibule completed by the end of August if construction by the Jenkins, Boller Construction Co. out of Waukegan stays on schedule.

Not only is this expansion taking place, but the remaining part of the old church, in Antioch since 1965, is also being renovated with only the present worship space remaining the same.

According to the church's pastor, Rev. Charles Miller, who has led the church for eight years, the $440,000 that this expansion and renovation is costing will be paid for by pledges from the 500 church members made during a capital fund drive that just started a year ago and the Lutheran Brotherhood Ins. Co.

The State Bank of Antioch is carrying the construction loan.

The formal dedication of the renovated and enlarged church has been scheduled for 3 p.m., on Sunday, Oct. 2.

$4,000 community challenge goal for cancer education

Janet Brook, chairman of the Cancer Society's Residential Crusade in Antioch accepted a $4,000 community challenge goal at the April crusade kickoff luncheon and pledged an all-out effort to educate area residents about the significant contribution mammography has made to the early diagnosis of breast cancer.

To support the ACS ambitious campaign on behalf of women and mammography, area radiology facilities are offering an opportunity to women, to have a mammogram at special reduced costs during the spring crusade promotion.

Keynote speaker for the noon event at Baxter Healthcare, Deerfield, was Martin Ozinga, Jr., Illinois Residential Crusade chairman. Ozinga declared, "We have known since 1971 how to reduce the number of deaths from breast cancer, yet, despite dramatic technical progress and widespread availability, we're not putting our knowledge to practice."

The ACS recommends asymptomatic women have a base-line mammogram at age 35, but only 2 percent of Illinois women who belong in the recommended guidelines for mammography have ever taken advantage of this procedure for early detection of breast cancer.

According to the Cancer Society, one of 10 women will develop breast cancer during her lifetime. The society estimates that in Illinois, this year, there will be more than 2,000 deaths due to breast cancer.

The office of the American Cancer Society in Waukegan will provide further information on facilities offering reduced cost mammograms. Call (312)336-9293.

New owners add cycling garb to Antioch Schwinn's stock

Rick Kubica has taken over the ownership of Antioch Schwinn Cycling, holding an official grand opening a few weeks ago.

The grand opening feted the remodeling of the store's inside, complete with new carpeting and display space, the addition of Cannondale bicycles to the inventory and also the addition of a complete stock of cycling wear and accessories for adults.

Schwinn bikes, long considered a top name in cycling, are available in all sizes and all price ranges at the Antioch store now as well as service on the bikes purchased.

Kubica has a degree in electronics, formerly working for AT&T and some aerospace companies, but he comes by his love for bicycles naturally as his family (father and brother) has been in the bicycle business for 27 years.

Sequiot fest held at ACHS

These young musicians performed music in their respective bands and for a finale all 400 young people played John Philip Sousa's patriotic favorite "Stars and Stripes Forever".

Library to start program

Curriculum talk, board opening top Millburn issues

Curriculum issues and a board of education vacancy dominated the April meeting of the Millburn Board of Education.

Because of a reading contest co-sponsored by the World Book Encyclopedia Co. and the Millburn Elementary School, every classroom in the building will benefit.

The contest was for each student to read a number of books, collect sponsors who pledged a certain amount for each book read and then at the end of the contest period, collected money from the sponsors based on a percentage of the amount collected.

Some 161 Millburn children participated in the program, reading a total of $1,329 books during the seven week period, raising more than $6,000 which was enough money to purchase 11 sets of World Book Encyclopedias and five sets of Childcraft.

Additionally, Beth Delcorps' third grade class will receive a seven volume World Book Encyclopedia of Science set for being the class with the highest average number of books read per student.

In another curriculum issue, the board approved a plan to develop a "Teachers' Working Curriculum Guide" during the summer. This development will be under the direction of Ruby Payne, Consultant from the County Board of Education Service Center. In other related curriculum issues, the board expressed its support for the development of an exemplary gifted education program for the 1988-89 school year, adopted the Houghton-Mifflin Language Arts Series for the 1988-89 school year and adopted "Growing Up Well" series to teach the problems with drugs-alcohol in all health classes.

Board members also approved the development of a summer school program in the areas of reading, math, language arts for students that are in need of remediation.

Paul Epner submitted his resignation from the board, creating a vacancy. Epner quit because of a job transfer which will take him out of the country. Anyone interested in filling this vacancy should forward a resume and a letter explaining why they desire to be a board member to: Supt. Lee Smithy, Millburn School, 18550 Millburn Rd., Wadsworth, 60083. Deadline is May 16 and the term will expire in Nov., 1989.

Renew ACHS accreditation

Arthur Blecke, principal of Antioch High School, has announced that the school's North Central Assn. accreditation has been extended through the 1987-88 school year following the review and approval of its annual report at the association's annual meeting. Accreditation is for one year at a time and must be renewed annually.

The North Central Assn., which was founded in 1895, is the largest of the country's regional accrediting agencies.

Accreditation by the North Central Assn. ensures that the school is meeting the minimal conditions for effectiveness. By setting standards for basic operations of the school and by requiring a comprehensive evaluation once every seven years, the NCA stimulates the school towards continuous improvement.

Letter To The Editor

Concerned

Editor:

Recent letters to the editor concerning the need for progressive development in Antioch proves there is growing concern over the lack of planning in the Antioch community.

Before we can tackle the problems of growth we must get to the root of the problem, being the absence of full time leadership that is needed in this community.

In a recent News-Reporter article, the Antioch Village Board voted to cut the mayor's salary in half after the next election, thereby making it possible for the hiring of a village administrator to "manage" the town while the mayor is away. This was initiated by Mayor Toft because of growing public concern over his frequent absences.

Isn't it presumptuous of the mayor to assume first of all that he is going to win the next election and secondly that Antioch citizens prefer having an "absentee" mayor? What if Mayor Toft doesn't win? Is it fair for a "full time" mayor to be paid the salary of a "part-timer"?

Those who want change in this community need to help make it happen. Remember this come next election.

ACHS academic team competes

The Antioch Community High School Academic team has been in two competitions in the last week. On Wednesday, April 20 they competed in the National Knowledge Open, a multiple choice test run on an Apple computer.

Eleven students participated: Diane Veltman, Rob Hueckstaedt, Andy Larken, Tom Mueller, Suzanne DeBruhl, Chris Kapasalis, Amy Kirschenheiter, Jon Medema, Traci Atkinson, Mike Malson and Michelle Veltman.

The test, which took over three hours, consisted of 200 questions to which the students would give one group answer. They had a second chance if the first answer was wrong.

Points were awarded based on how quickly they answered correctly.

They scored 1,080 an improvement on the 1,056 they scored on last fall's test. A total of 1,343 high schools participated nationally including 72 in Illinois.

Then on Saturday, April 23, seven members of the team participated in the Stevenson High School Academic Bowl, along with teams from 30 other schools. Those students from ACHS were: Diane Veltman, Suzanne DeBruhl, Traci Atkinson, Jon Medema, Chris Kapsalis, John Ciko and Amy Kirschenheiter. Antioch won their first round match against Marion Central Catholic but lost in the second round to St. Ignatius.

The ACHS Academic Team's next competition will be the state sectional competition at Fremd High School in Palatine on Saturday, April 30.

Antioch's first round opponent will be Warren High School.

Schedule blood drive

The 16th annual blood drive will be Thursday, May 12 in the North Gym at Antioch High School from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. This is sponsored by the ACHS Education Assoc. with assistance from the student council.

Call Mrs. Coolidge or Mrs. Rummel between 1:15 and 2:15 p.m. for an appointment at (312)395-1421 ext. 244. This is an excellent opportunity to help others.

Antioch bands play in 2 concerts

by CAROLYN HAMMOND
(312)395-6081

This is the time of year when everything seems to march double-time! There doesn't seem to be enough hours to get all the necessary things done. The rest of the school year will seem to fly by for parents. It's all relative, though. For students wanting to get outside, time will seem to drag.

Graduation day will soon be here for ACHS seniors who just seemed ready to start school a few years ago. Those 13 years sure went by fast, didn't they?

You know that it's May

Grade School Junior and Senior Bands in concert, under the direction of Earl Bush, at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 10 at the

News & Notes

when it's ACHS Band-O-Rama time. The high school bands, under the direction of John Olisar, and many of the feeder elementary schools for ACHS all got together on May 5 to play an exhibition of each band and in correct together with the traditional "Stars and Stripes Forever" as a finale. It's always a thrill to hear to over 500 young musicians play that song. And by George, they all stop together too. It's great!

In case you missed their performance at Band-O-Rama, you can catch the Antioch Upper Upper Grade gym.

May 10 sure will be a busy evening. The Antioch Grade School PTO welcomes parents and children to its annual Book Fair at 7 p.m. The evening will begin with a short general meeting in the gym. Refreshments will be served.

Also on May 10, the Antioch Junior Woman's Club will complete its first full year of organization with a potluck dinner. Members are asked to bring an ethnic dish to pass. Dues for the 1988-89 club year will be collected. The group will meet at 6:45 p.m. at the First National Bank of Antioch, 485 Lake St.

Happy, happy Mother's Day!!

Open space snares Picket Fence Farms, financing next issue

by STEVE PETERSON
Now that the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. has decided to purchase the 1,340 acre Picket Fence Farm, the issue will become how to pay for it.

The Forest Preserve Dist. approved seeking the purchase by a whopping 18-1 vote. County Board member Bruce Hansen of Lake Zurich said the land may be purchased through a bond issue.

"We don't want the same people that are here today coming back and saying we don't want to pay for the bonds," Hansen said.

Those supporting the land purchase, mostly Third Lake residents, appeared en masse at the district's meeting at the Lake County Building in Waukegan April 25. Some, who had earlier demonstrated in front of the building, held pro open space signs during the two-hour meeting.

Led by Libertyville Twp. Supervisor F.T. "Mike" Graham of Dist. five, open space supporters carried the day. They succeeded by two votes the number necessary to override a possible veto by Donald Strenger, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. The only negative vote was cast by Fred Popp of Dist. four.

Board member Delores Alexrod of the first district said that she did not have all of the information sought and asked the board delay it a week. The motion died for a lack of a second.

The vote pleased Third Lake residents, who stated that the proposed mixed development of single-family homes, businesses and 120 acres of open space would hurt their lake. Grayslake, however, was outraged by the decision. The village had been in negotiations with longtime owner Harold Anderson for two years about annexing the parcel. Hearings had been held and Grayslake Zoning Board of Appeals and Plan Commission members had indicated their support.

"I'm pleasantly surprised at the speeches of approval. This development will cost people in the area four times to develop than to purchase it for open space," Graham said after the discussion.

James Balen of Dist. two, said the purchase is a step toward preserving the future.

"This is one little step toward bringing our house in order," he said.

"We're buying this forest preserve so we can enjoy clean water and air and enjoy life," Hansen said.

Carol Calabresa of Dist. five said her mind was made up about the purchase after touring the site in Avon Twp.

Grayslake Mayor Ed Schroeder testified in defense of the development.

"If this goes through, we will be surrounded by open space," Schroeder said, noting that Renwood Golf Course, Brea Loch Country Club,

College of Lake County rolls. and Lake County Schroeder said Fairgrounds are already Grayslake is concerned unavailable to the tax about wetlands and proud of its ordinances. Grayslake Economic The Grayslake Area Development Corp. have Chamber of Commerce expressed support for the and Industry and project.

FOOT CARE FOR THE MOTHER-TO-BE

Pregnancy can be hard on the feet.

Adding the usual 25 to 30 pounds over nine months put greater stress on the feet than one ordinarily experiences. Also, the feet can be affected by the swelling that is common in pregnancy and by the shifting of the body's normal balance. It's difficult to see one's toes, let alone trim the toe-nails.

Upon learning she is pregnant, a woman should make sure she has shoes for the duration that are comfortable, provide adequate support and cushion her steps. She should be aware that her feet may swell and she may need larger shoes.

Existing foot problems may be intensified by the weight gain and other changes during pregnancy. An early visit to the podiatrist can help keep such problems from causing unnecessary distress later in pregnancy.

Promoters offer to switch tickets for rock concert

by GLORIA DAVIS

Maybe it's true that "you can't fight city hall," but it seems you can fight the music hall!

The Joseph Entertainment Group, promoters of the "Monster Rock Concert," set for a school day, Friday, May 27, at Alpine Valley in East Troy, has bent its rules a bit.

According to a letter sent out to area high schools from the promoters, although the only reason up to now that Alpine Valley and the Riverside Theatre, Milwaukee would give refunds was the cancellation of a performance, the promoters will now exchange Friday tickets for tickets for Saturday or Sunday performances of the rock concert headlined by Van Halen.

Students can exchange tickets by going to Alpine's boxoffice in East Troy with student IDs or they may also send their ticket, with the year they will graduate and the name of the school attached, to Joseph Entertainment, 620 N. Broadway, Milwaukee, Wis., 53202.

DOCTOR'S FORUM

FIBROCYSTIC BREAST DISEASE AND CANCER

by DR. MARK BOWMAN

The breast gland is made up of many ducts surrounded by glandular and fat tissues. Its main function is to produce and secrete milk.

As part of the reproductive system, the breasts are influenced by the menstrual cycle and are therefore influenced by the female sex hormones and undergo cyclical changes every month.

Fibrocystic breast disease is a noncancerous condition. It is usually marked by the presence of nodules or cysts (sacs of fluid), which may or may not be accompanied by pain and tenderness. Its symptoms fluctuate in response to hormonal changes, especially those associated with menstruation.

Fibrocystic breast disease can occur in one or both breasts. The nodules or cysts can be spread throughout the breast, be located in one general area, or simply appear as one or more large cysts.

Is fibrocystic breast disease common? It is the most common noncancerous disease of the breast. One out of every four women in the United States will require medication attention sometime in her life regarding a breast problem, and of these, fibrocystic disease is very often diagnosed. This condition can occur at any age after menstruation begins, but it is more likely to appear between the ages of 30 and menopause. After that, it rarely occurs.

The cause of fibrocystic breast disease is unknown. However, most experts believe there must be a relationship to the female sex hormones (possibly an imbalance), because this condition does not appear before menstruation and it rarely occurs after menopause.

One question which always arises is, "Will I get cancer from this?" Although, as previously mentioned, fibrocystic breast disease is a noncancerous condition, there seems to be a two- to three-fold increased risk of breast cancer among women with fibrocystic disease over those who do not have it.

The primary goal of treatment for fibrocystic breast disease is the relief of pain and tenderness, as well as the reduction and/or elimination of cysts. The treatment recommended by the doctor will depend on the severity of the condition. Fibrocystic breast disease by its very nature is cyclical, so symptoms that may be mild at one point in the patient's life can become more severe later.

The condition usually declines during pregnancy and nursing. It may even disappear during these times and never return. Hormonal and pain medication may be prescribed, and if in conjunction with premenstrual syndrome, alternative medications may be prescribed.

Dietary recommendations and vitamin supplementation have also been utilized with success in many instances. The doctor might also suggest wearing loose clothing and a well-padded bra. Lastly, if there are one or more large cysts or "suspicious" nodules, the doctor may recommend a minor surgical procedure (aspiration or biopsy).

For more information about fibrocystic breast disease, please call or make an appointment with the Heritage Medical Center, (312) 395-0085.

Help available for low vision patients

Low vision is defined as that vision which cannot be corrected by conventional means such as eyeglasses or contact lenses. Those with low vision are unable to perform everyday tasks such as reading, sewing, knitting, driving or even recognizing faces.

According to the National Society to Prevent Blindness, an estimated 1.4 million individuals in the United States have severe visual impairments - with over 90 percent suffering from low vision. About 85,000 new cases of visual impairment are reported each year.

Low vision is the greatest handicap among those over the age of 65, next to heart disease and arthritis. In fact, about 70 percent of all people with low vision are 65 or older. It is estimated that by the year 2000, there will be 1.8 million people over 65 with low vision.

Typical symptoms of low vision include blurred or distorted vision, high sensitivity to glare, night blindness, loss of central or peripheral vision, or loss of half of the vision field.

Low vision can result from a variety of eye disorders. It can be caused by birth defects, injuries, certain body diseases, and aging.

It is most commonly caused by scarring or deterioration of the retina or any of the following conditions:

— MACULAR DEGENERATION: breakdown of part of the retina, called the macula, damages sight.

— DIABETIC RETINOPATHY: a complication of diabetes in which blood vessels in the back of the eye hemorrhage or swell, causing scar tissue which obstructs vision.

— GLAUCOMA: increased pressure inside the eye damages the optic nerve and causes a decrease of peripheral or side vision.

— CATARACT: the lens becomes cloudy causing blurred and hazy vision.

— CORNEAL SCARRING: injury or infection to the cornea results in blurred or hazy vision.

— RETINAL DETACHMENT: detachment of the retina from the back of the eye requires immediate surgical repair to minimize permanent loss of sight.

Other conditions which can cause low vision but occur less frequently include:

- strokes
- nerve degenerations
- brain or eye injuries
- hereditary defects

— retrolental fibroplasia (retinal scarring - occurs most often in premature babies)

An ophthalmologist, a medical doctor who specializes in total care of the eye, must make the diagnosis of low vision.

Once diagnosed, special lens systems and low vision aids can be prescribed to help. Low vision aids come in a wide variety including: lenses; combinations of optical lenses including magnifiers and telescopes; visors; filters; prisms; mirrors; reading slits; specialized television sets; computer reading devices; lighting controls including adjustable lamps, special electric light bulbs, and filters; large print books, newspapers, and magazines; other large print items including telephone dials, needle threaders, large character calculators, playing cards, and large print computer terminals; accessory devices including talking books, audio tapes, and reading stands.

Most low vision centers estimate that they are able to help about 80 percent of low vision patients to varying degrees.

Young homeowners also have tax exemptions

Younger Illinois homeowners may not be aware that they are entitled to property tax exemptions, as well as seniors and the handicapped. There are a total of three separate tax reductions available.

Lake County Tax bills will be in the mail the first week of May, with the first installment due June 8 and the second September 8. McHenry County tax bills will be mailed approximately mid-May, with due dates yet to be announced.

Tax bills received in May of 1988 apply to the 1987 tax year. Answers to any questions about the assessed value or tax bill can be obtained by calling the appropriate township assessor or county tax collector's office.

All three exemptions can reduce the equalized assessed value of a private home, which is one-third of the market value of that home. The assessed value is multiplied by the total of the local tax rate percentages in order to obtain the dollar amount of each property tax bill.

The Homestead Improvement Exemption is available regardless of age. This is for property owners whose homes have increased in value due to improvements such as room additions, new garages, etc.

Depending on the value of the improvements, the market value of the home can be reduced by as much as $30,000 (thus, $10,000 off the assessed value) for four years. If this applies, and the taxes have gone up, call the assessor to check on it.

The Homestead Limited Exemption for 1987 tax year applies to homeowners of any age who have lived in their own homes at least since 1986. If the home has increased in value since the base year of 1977, and all have, there can be a reduction ranging up to $3,500 in equalized assessed value.

The Senior Homestead Exemption is for residents age 65 and over who live in their own homes. This allows a reduction of $2,000 in the assessed value of their home.

It is best to check real estate tax bills as soon as they arrive in May to learn whether they contain a credit for any property tax exemptions. Take the first card -- the one with the payment stubs on it -- and look in the lower right corner.

Below the amount for "assessed value", there should be a listing for "exemptions" and a dollar figure by which the assessed value is reduced.

If the exemption is given as $2,000, it is for seniors. If it is $3,500, it's for homeowners living in their own homes. If it is $5,500, there were both.

Look on the separate card containing the itemized tax bill breakdown to find whether there is a homestead improvement exemption. This would be at the bottom of the first column, labeled "home improvement exemptions addition," followed by a dollar figure. Despite the word "addition," it means the amount was subtracted from the assessed value before the tax was computed.

The Lake County Tax Collector's office is located in Waukegan, or phone (312)360-6363. The McHenry County Tax Collector's office is in Woodstock, (815)338-2040. The township assessors' offices are listed by the township name in the local telephone books.

Deer, car accidents on rise

Drivers should be alert for deer crossing the highways at this time of the year. According to Donald Strenger, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist., heavier late afternoon and early morning traffic coincides with deer movement.

White-tailed deer sometimes travel from daytime resting areas to feed at night. Often the resting and feeding areas are separated by highways that are usually crossed just after dusk and just prior to dawn.

Drivers traveling to and from work through forested or farmland areas are warned to be particularly cautious. Lake County rates No. 2 in the state for deer/vehicle accidents. A total of 250 accidents involving deer were reported by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation for state highways in Lake County in 1986. That is attributed to increased deer density.

Gardeners can get green thumb advice

Eating home-grown produce is a real treat. Its freshness and flavor just can't be matched by anything found in a store. Working to produce good, healthy food while saving money can be very satisfying.

To grow vegetables and fresh fruits and nuts, the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture has two publications to help plan a garden. Growing Vegetables in the Home Garden gives information on raising a wide variety of vegetables, while Growing Fruits and Nuts offers tips on growing everything from apples to walnuts. For copies of these booklets send name, address, item numbers and payment to R. Woods, Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

When planning a garden, look for a sunny spot with good drainage. Consider how much and what to plant. It is better to have a small garden to keep up than one that becomes neglected and full of weeds. Even consider the possibility of working vegetables in with landscaping. Many vegetables are ornamental in appearance and work well in flower beds, while others can grow entirely in containers.

Guard against weeds. Weeds rob plants of water, nutrients and light. The primary method of controlling weeds is hoeing. Hoeing also loosens the top of the soil, allowing water to enter the soil with the next rain. Weeds can also be controlled with a black plastic.

School systems could survive if builder donations made law

Lake County is one of the fastest growing counties in the nation. Residential, corporate, and retail developments have and continue to pop up on every vacant parcel of land.

Corporate and retail developments provide an adequate tax base for school systems in the county, however, residential developments are a different story.

Elementary, middle and high schools, are feeling the crunch from high density housing and minimal developer donations. School district administrations are now attempting to close the gate on developers guilty of contributing to the school systems' woes.

Mundelein's and Vernon Hills' schools have been subjected to fluctuating housing markets, and are now beginning to pay the price.

In the past years, five of the six school districts in Mundelein and Vernon Hills presented referendums to its residents asking for tax increases to meet the increasing costs of enrollment and operating expenses.

But school districts cannot go to residents for tax increases every time a developer throws 100 or 200 new students into the school system. Village administrations and school boards are now coming together to make developers financially responsible and alleviate the schools' woes.

The only municipal ordinance regarding developers' donations, which has been upheld in court, belongs to Naperville. Mundelein's village board members and school district administration officials have been analyzing the ordinance to understand the ramifications and results of such an implementation of law.

According to Dr. James A. Clark, superintendent of Naperville School Dist. 203, the Naperville Ordinance has tremendously helped the school system with its enrollment needs.

The Naperville Ordinance provides that as a condition of a development, each developer shall be required to dedicate land for school sites, or make a cash contribution in lieu of actual land dedication, or a combination of both, at the option of the city.

The school site dedication is determined on a ratio of estimated children to be served in each school classification (elementary, junior high, or high school) over the maximum recommended number of students to be served in each school classification and applying the ratio to the minimum number of acres for a school site for each school classification. For example: a development is expected to place 600 new students in an elementary school district (kindergarten through fifth grade). The developer must donate a minimum of 11 acres.

But if the school system is in need of cash, rather than land, the municipality shall require the developer to pay a cash contribution in lieu of land.

The cash contribution is held in trust by the city, or other public body designated by the city, solely for the use in the acquisition of land for a school site or for the improvement to any existing school site.

County stormwater funds on hold

The Lake County Stormwater Management Planning Committee met April 20 and decided to delay seeking public funds for a comprehensive, on-going county wide program until a complete problem inventory and analysis has been completed. The committee decided to advertise for consultants interested in working on the technical or institutional/financial aspects of the study. The staff was also asked to recommend alternatives for interim financing.

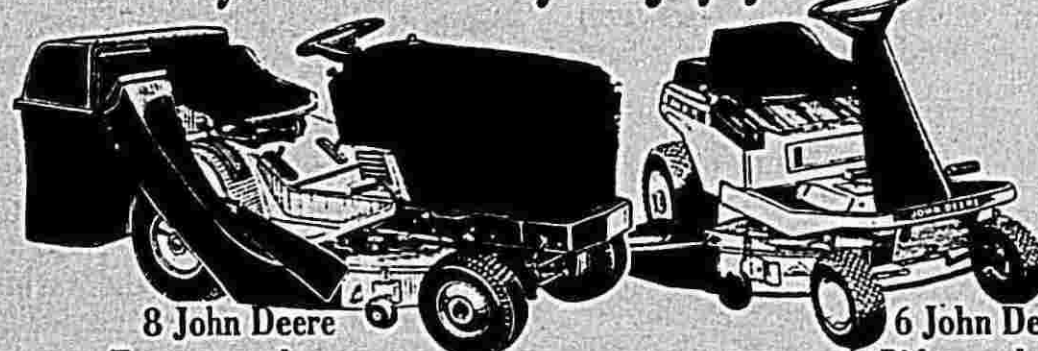

Composed of representatives from country and municipal governments, the committee's goals are to develop and carry out a stormwater management program, which includes flood control, storm drainage and water quality while maintaining a cooperative municipal-country approach.

Until formation of this committee, there was no single agency to deal with matters of stormwater or flooding. People residing in low-lying areas of the county are particularly concerned about the problems being addressed by this group since flooding occurs repeatedly along certain streams and drainage channels. Many property owners have suffered severe losses in past years.

Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton is chairman of the Stormwater Management Planning Committee.

Searching for middle ground

Common sense is crying out for a solution to the predicament Lake County has gotten itself into on the issue of growth—a polarization between the forces eager to stack brick and mortar on every buildable site and a lemming-like rush to preserve open space at all costs.

An 18 to 1 vote by the Lake County Forest Preserve District Board to designate for acquisition the 1,340-acre Picket Fence Farm underscores the fact that officialdom is responding to the voices shouting for open space, whatever the cost. Commissioners never considered—or ignored—tax supported agencies that will be impacted negatively as exemplified by the commentary from an elected school official elsewhere on this page. Officials never even knew that the county was ready to pounce on Picket Fence, whose owners made no secret about desires to develop the mid-county parcel for a multi-use complex. Financially strapped Grayslake schools were looking on the tax potential as a bonanza.

The aftermath of the surprise acquisition move and subsequent bitterness expressed by neighboring taxing agencies foretells protracted litigation and mountainous legal fees.

What is the price of open space? Is there room for compromise between those who see productive land as a fair share source of taxes and those who see Lake County's open space as fallow ground to be used by "mama deer and papa deer" or as footpaths for nature students?

Just about every corner of the county will be involved if the Forest Preserve District continues on a path of land acquisition motivated more by an anti-growth sentiment than preserving ecologically significant turf or providing for recreation needs.

The county has earmarked seven large tracts of undeveloped land for acquisition. Included are the 7,000 acre Tempel Smith Farms, Old Mill Creek; the 1,300 acre Cuneo Estate bordered by Libertyville, Mundelein and Vernon Hills; remaining Heartland acreage in central Lake County; the 1,000 plus acres of the Crown Farm west of Wauconda; the 100 acre Rasmussen Farm and Redwing Marsh near Antioch, and the 800 acre Pritzker parcel known as Lake Lure west of Round Lake.

No one has ventured what acquisition cost of this much real estate might be, but it probably wouldn't be too far off from the deficit of a Third World nation. Lest they have forgotten, open space advocates should be reminded that taxpayers will foot the cost for land acquisition, the same people who pay for the cost of building schools and providing other services made imperative by urbanization. We must hasten to add that the dynamics of real estate development haven't gone unnoticed; that taxpayers are forced when all is said and done to stand substantial portions of developmental costs.

This newspaper favors a middle ground in the debate over growth. A vital economy producing jobs and tax support dictates a certain amount of growth and development. It should also be noted that the county's deer population is larger now than at any time since native Americans resided here. People and animals can live together where there is care and planning how to coexist. Political leaders, who can't be faulted for counting votes—that's their job—should also be aware that while the voices of moderation are not as shrill as the open spacers, they still exist—and those voices also care about our future.

We hate to see the politics of open space taking a strident turn. And it is getting pretty ugly. Reasonableness and compromise should prevail. We hope it isn't too late.

Picket Fence Farm buy viewed irresponsible

BY CAROLE DEWAR

I believe that the actions of the Lake County Forest Preserve Land Acquisition Committee did not include proper input from the citizens and agencies that their actions might impact in connection with the possible purchase of Picket Fence Farm land for use as open space forest preserve property.

Their actions as representatives of the citizens of this county are totally irresponsible.

My concerns are two-fold:

1. It is extremely unfortunate that our elected officials cannot work harmoniously in the best interest of citizens, as illustrated by the New Sun's article on the possible purchase of the Picket Fence Farm property in the headlines of the April 23-24 edition. It is my understanding that the mayor and the village trustees of the Village of Grayslake read about the county's consideration for purchase of Picket Fence Farm for the first time in the News Sun, rather than hearing it directly from the county officials. As a taxpayer, I expect our elected officials to work together in the best interests of all of the taxpayers of this county. When the County Board unilaterally acts to purchase a piece of property that has immense impact upon a particular village in this county, without any input from the village representatives, I consider such action as intolerable and totally inexcusable.

2. My second concern is in regards to the removal off the tax rolls of additional property, which decreases the assessed valuation and reduces the tax base for Grayslake High School Dist. 127. Currently, Dist. 127's tax rate is the highest of any high school district in Lake County. The reason for the high rate is the fact that Dist. 127 has the second lowest assessed valuation in Lake County, second to only North Chicago. As a result, it requires taxpayers to pay an extremely high rate to receive high quality services from their schools. Currently, the property that includes the Brae Loch Golf Course, Renwood Golf Course, Lake County Area Vocational Center, and the College of Lake County is part of the Dist. 127 district and is totally non-taxable. In addition, a TIF district (tax increment financing) has been approved at Rte. 83 and Rollins Rd. in Round Lake Beach, which removes our ability to tax the development in the area for almost the next 20 years. By removing the 1,300 plus acres of Picket Fence Farm from the tax rolls for an open space forest preserve land, Grayslake Community High School will remain one of the lowest tax bases in the country. As a result, the local homeowner will pay a high price for quality services by their school, police and other such agencies.

Editor's Note: Carole Dewar is president of Dist. 127 board of education, Grayslake High School. Dewar, a resident of Lake Villa, is employed as a carrier for the U.S. Postal Service. The views expressed are personal. The board position on the action to purchase Picket Fence Farm is opposition to the process used with no position on the question of open space.

Viewpoint

Radium variances draw attention of Mike Graham

BY BILL SCHROEDER

County Board Dist. 5 Rep. Mike Graham, Lake County's open space guru, appears to be taking a new slant on advancing his no-growth philosophy. Graham is seizing upon radium problems in county water systems to control expansion. That's the opinion of Mayor Edwin Schroeder, who feels Graham is master-minding efforts to take large land blocks out of the path of development through acquisition by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist.

At a public service committee meeting of the county board, Graham effectively sidetracked an Illinois Pollution Control Board order granting a five-year radium variance for the Wildwood water system operated by the Lake County Public Works Dept.

Graham was unsuccessful in an effort to have the county's Vernon Hills radium variance petition to the IPCB withdrawn, thus both winning and losing on the radium question in two different places. The status of the Vernon Hills water facility is tied closely to future development of two huge parcels, the Cuneo Estate and Allied Mills Farm, both fronting on Milwaukee Ave.

SOUND THE ALARM—State Rep. Bernie Pedersen of Palatine says it's time to break out signs and bumper stickers proclaiming "No More Illinois Taxes". Pedersen will supply your stickers and signs at a cost of 30 cents and $9, respectively, by writing him at Room G-3, Stratton Office Bldg., Springfield, Ill. 62706.

"There is a solid position for no net tax increases," Pedersen asserts. No tax increases, according to Pedersen, means economic growth, more jobs, less unemployment, less welfare and more revenues.

FLEETING—Steve Young, one of Lakeland Newspapers' photographers, had the shot of a lifetime, a flight of seven rare trumpeter swans hunkered down on a pond near Antioch. Steve seldom goes anywhere without a camera, but (you guessed it) this was one of those times. "They were feeding and resting, but when I returned they already had continued on their way north," Young related. There are only 123 of the stately creatures in existence. The noble birds have a wingspan of 12 feet. "They seemed as large as a small boat," remarked Steve.

WRITER—Orville "Pat" Clavey, one of the two persons in the history of Lake County to be elected as both coroner and sheriff, is involved in a new experience. Clavey is writing a book. It has an inspirational theme, and will center on his belief in God and recount experiences with the power of prayer. Pat is a voracious reader, logging five books per week. The former public official now operates a successful janitorial service business with his two sons. Yes, he still keeps tabs on the political scene—from an arm's length.

PLAY HOST—Families in this community interested in hosting a teenager this summer from France or Spain are invited to call (312) 892-3914 to participate in a student exchange program with Nacel Cultural Exchange, a non-profit corporation organized by language teachers in the U.S. and abroad.

Two hundred French and Spanish teenagers will be arriving in the area on June 27 as part of a four-week homestay program. The students all speak English. They'll be staying about four weeks.

*****

HURRICANE—Life in tiny Hainesville, Lake County's smallest municipality, is like an eye of a hurricane. Controversy is swirling all about. There's the ongoing flap over whether members of the nearby Northbrook Sports Club should be allowed to shoot more, less, or not at all. Now Mayor George Benjamin is hot under the collar over what he regards a stupid mistake by village trustees, allowing Softball City to keep its lights shining for games until 11:30 p.m., after earlier agreeing to close shop at 10:45 p.m. "What will our neighbors think?" Benjamin wonders. The mayor hopes to get the board to reconsider May 10. Maybe the trustees thought if shooting was keeping neighbors awake, they wouldn't be bothered by lights. Such is life in Hainesville.

*****

FUTURE VEEP—A number of local Republicans making reservations for the annual Lake County Republican Federation fundraising dinner May 20 at Mundelein Holiday Inn feel the guest speaker might be a future vice president of the U.S.

Congresswoman Lynn Martin from Rockford, the keynote speaker, is being mentioned more and more as a possible veep choice this year or four years from now. No one is arguing that Martin doesn't have the energy and intelligence to handle the job.

Letters To The Editor

Double standard

Editor:

It was reported that Emmons Jr. High School students are "having fun studying and researching gods and goddesses of Greek Mythology". How nice! The religious double standard in our schools never ceases to amaze me. Funk and Wagnals encyclopedia says that mythology is "fundamentally religious in character having supernatural frame".

The public is constantly screaming to keep religion out of the schools. Why is it ok to study and research occult, anti-Christian religion? Maybe it's to prepare these kids to graduate to the santanism that's so rampant in the high schools. After all, we do want our kids prepared for the real world don't we?

What a refreshing breath of fresh air it would be to hear of the schools having kids "study and research" some of the many Christian heros who have shaped our country's history to learn that a strong Christian faith was at work in Columbus as he made his voyage to the new world, that some faith was behind the actions of heros like Jacques Marquette, George Washington, Squanto the Indain (who?) or Roger Williams.

We do not want religion kept out of our schools. We want THAT religion kept out! Obviously, we have very religious public schools! Between the secular humanism taught in almost every subject, and occult "study and research", we're raising up a fine generation of religious people.

God have mercy on us all!

Quality of lake at stake

Editor:

It is encouraging to note that residents of Lake County are becoming aware of the concept of open space. How thrilling to know that the Lake County Forest Preserve District may purchase the 1000 acre plus Picket Fence Farm land. The area has Mill Creek running through it and has been identified as a wetland area by the U.S. EPA.

Studies continually show the financial advantage of open land versus developed land to the homeowners in the area. The schools, sewers, libraries, roads, etc., all are more costly than having a green belt area. Lake County has 171 lakes. Obviously by filling in areas with cement and asphalt the watershed is negatively affected. The quality of life issue is even more important than any other considerations.

The least any of us can do is to contact our Lake County Board members to encourage the acquisition of Picket Fence Farm as well as other precious open area. It is hoped an enlightened vision of a semi-rural Lake County will prevail over those who want to make all the land between Grayslake and Waukegan a suburb of continual housing similar to Chicago Heights and drab Blue Island without the delights of preserved natural lands.

Poor judgment used

Editor:

I am writing to express my disappointment over the article entitled "Mundelein pipe bombs threatening to residents".

The article reports on the recent findings of three pipe bombs and then issues instructions on how to make a bomb. The directions identify the materials needed for the bomb, the addition of tacks or nails for a shrapnel effect, and placement of the bomb for damage intended.

I feel publishing this type of information serves no benefit and even encourages irresponsible and dangerous behavior. Isn't the editor the person responsible for what is published? The editor is usually vested with decision making authority and uses his or her judgment to determine what is printed. A receptionist can take messages and pass comments along!

It seems Police Chief Wally Frasier is also bothered by publishing information of this type. I hope, in the future, your editors will use better judgment regarding the kinds of articles that are printed.

Save space for animals

Editor:

I am nine years old. I have lived in Third Lake for eight years. My mom and dad are happy to live in this village. I heard them talk about the land at Picket Fence and how the Park Dist. wants to buy the land.

I like to play out in the field. When I go to play I see many things. Like rabbit houses. The boy deers fighting for girl deers. The mother deer and the baby deer. My dad put a salt block by the edge of the field once. The deer came right up to it. It was so neat when I saw a deer.

If they build houses the deer and rabbits will have no place to live. All my secret places will be gone.

Libertarian candidate has different point of view

RON PAUL, THE Libertarian candidate for president, says he has a better idea on how the country should be run. The former Republican Congressman from Texas gave this column an exclusive interview last Friday.

Aspects of the Libertarian philosophy make both conservatives and liberals cringe, but Paul says it is a consistent philosophy based on individual freedom and minimal government interference in the affairs of individuals.

Conservatives wince because the Libertarians would abolish the income tax entirely and withdraw most troops from around the world. Paul says the United States would have a strong defense, but it should not play policeman to the world.

Noting the situation in Panama, he said we should not be involved. "Our interest in keeping the canal open is nowhere near as strong as the Panamanians' is," he noted. "It is their prime source of hard currency. It is the same in the Persian Gulf—those countries need to sell their oil more than we need to buy it."

The affable Paul says that the rest of the world should be able to defend itself by now, and that most wars we have gotten into since World War II have been a needless and senseless sacrifice of American lives.

He would decriminalize drugs if he could, saying that the main reason it causes crime is because it is illegal. Thus, prices are artificially increased and drug addicts commit crimes to get the money to supply their habit.

That does not mean that Paul is in favor of drug use, though. He compares the current situation with illegal drugs to the days of prohibition and the vicious spate of crime it caused. As for drug users, he said, "People inclined in this direction can only be helped through moral and medical suasion, not by making them criminals."

Liberals scream when Libertarians solemnly pronounce that they would do away with most social welfare programs, leaving it to the private sector to handle. Paul said that if any private insurance agency had done what the U.S. Congress has done with Social Security, the directors would all be in prison.

JUST POLITICS

by Charles Johnston

Smiling benignly, Paul said the Internal Revenue Service has run amok, making a mockery of individual freedoms. He said in tax court the individual is presumed guilty until proven innocent. Even if the person is found innocent, the IRS makes sure to cause him to have to rack up enough in legal fees that he doesn't really win. The only answer, Paul said, is to abolish the income tax and the IRS and go back to financing the federal government like it was before the income tax was created in 1913.

He says it is tough conducting a national campaign when the major media pays little attention. Another problem is financing. "We don't accept federal matching funds even if available," he winked. "It would not be in line with our philosophy." But Paul said he thinks there are a growing number of people out there who are attracted by a coherent, consistent philosophy and by a candidate who doesn't dodge giving answers to even the toughest of questions.

As he got ready to leave, Paul introduced his companion, a former Texas State Trooper who is providing security. "Even our security is provided privately," Paul grinned. "we try to stay consistent in everything we do."

NORTH CHICAGO SCHOOL board members in both the high school and elementary districts should be encouraged in their latest effort to combine the schools into one unit district.

Though the idea has been proposed and rejected before, there is good reason for North Chicago voters to take a closer look at the proposal this time around.

High school board president Ken Robinson said that consolidation of schools could save money while offering students a better education. He is certainly right.

In this area, residents of unit districts pay about 50 cents less, on the average, than residents of dual districts, for each $100 of assessed valuation. For the owner of a $60,000 home, that works out to an annual tax savings of $100.

Under the unit system, the school authority will have to be concerned with the complete educational need of the community, rather than just for one school or one type of school.

North Chicago has a problem, though. If it does consolidate, it will become the second largest district in the county in terms of the number of students. But in geographical size and assessed valuation, it will be the smallest in comparison to all other districts that include a high school.

The fact is that North Chicago has more students to serve and less local money to do it with than any other district in the county. Thus, it is crucial each dollar it does have for education is used to the maximum efficiency.

The only other district in the county with similar circumstances is Round Lake. It covers a very small geographical area that is heavily populated and, thus, has a very low assessed valuation—just barely more than what a North Chicago unit district would have.

Round Lake went unit district 20 years ago and is currently the second largest district in the county. It also has the lowest overall tax rate. After it went unit, the size of curriculum offerings more than tripled at the high school, standardized testing scores went up in all schools, and tax rates have stayed behind the rate of increase of surrounding districts.

North Chicago would do well to take a good look at what happened in Round Lake after it went unit. And then choose to embrace the benefits that going unit district will offer its students and taxpayers.

Abbott proves profitable over years

(Editor's note: Abbott Laboratories is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year. The Lakeland Newspapers Business section presents the third and final installment in a series of articles saluting Abbott for its achievements.)

"Do you want to go into business with the Abbott Alkaloidal Co.?"

In 1905, Dr. Wallace C. Abbott posed that question in a letter he sent to physicians, soliciting investors for his 17-year-old, Chicago-based drug company. Physicians were Abbott's main target since he knew that the future of his business depended on the acceptance and support of the medical community. Founded in 1888, the Abbott Alkaloidal Co. posted $2,000 in sales in its first year. By 1900 the company had sales of $125,000 and Dr. Abbott was actively luring investors with a variety of creative financial instruments.

One type of security he offered was a series of "guaranteed" 6 percent bonds, which physicians could purchase with a minimum investment of $20 and a maximum of $200. A straight talking prospectus assured potential investors: "This is no water-stock selling, get-rich-quick scheme," and stressed that an investment in Abbott's company was a "square deal" and "an opportunity to be connected with an earnest enterprise that is already a great success."

The company started earning continuous yearly profits in 1904 or earlier, reached $1 million in sales in 1918, and distributed its first stock dividend in 1925. By that time, the Abbott Alkaloidal Co. had changed its name to Abbott Laboratories.

Abbott lab technician at work

In 1929, Abbott Laboratories was listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange under the direction of Dr. Abbott's successor, Alfred S. Burdick, M.D. Eight years later, on March 1, 1937, Abbott listed its stock on the New York Stock Exchange. The first and only Abbott transaction that day was a block of 100 shares that sold for $54.25 per share.

Investors reaped good returns on Abbott stock during the 1930s, despite the fact that the nation was mired in the Great Depression. From 1930 to 1940, Abbott tripled its sales from about $4 million to more than $12 million. Shareholders benefited from this growth with a stock dividend in 1935 and a 3-for-1 stock split in 1936. The first Abbott stock split occurred two years before the company's 50th anniversary; seven other splits have occurred since then.

The decades of the 40s, 50s, and 60s, saw the company grow into a multi-million dollar health care products manufacturer. Abbott topped $100 million in sales in 1957, $150 million in 1963 and $250 million in 1966. This impressive growth was attributed in part to the success of an important new antibiotic, erythromycin, which was introduced in 1952. New products continued to flow from the productive research of Abbott scientists, and the company's sales were closing in on the half-billion-dollar mark by the onset of the 70s.

In 1976, Abbott suffered a recall of its entire line of intravenous solutions. Despite this setback, company sales and profits continued to grow. By 1976, Abbott reached the milestone of $1 billion in sales and four years later went past $2 billion.

Abbott has continued its impressive performance through the 80s, with sales surpassing $4 billion in 1987. A year earlier, the company was selected by Dun's Business Month as one of the "Five Best Managed Companies". Dun's called Abbott "the most diversified and most profitable company in" (Continued on page 21)

Baxter reports operating results for first quarter

The Baxter Healthcare Corp. has reported first-quarter sales of $1.6 billion, a 12 percent increase over 1987's first quarter. Net income increased 38 percent to $91 million. Earnings per common share increased 41 percent to 31 cents. Sales, net income and earnings per common share for the first quarter of 1987 were $1.5 billion, $66 million and 22 cents.

"Our first quarter operating results point to another excellent year for Baxter," said Vernon R. Loucks, Jr., chairman and chief executive officer. "Our strong sales growth reflects a continuation of an improving U.S. hospital market. We are increasing investments in facilities, equipment and research and development to make sure we continue serving the market with high-quality and cost-effective products and services."

Domestic sales for the first quarter were approximately $1.3 billion. Sales from international markets were $355 million. The company estimates that stronger foreign currency values contributed approximately $41 million to international sales for the quarter.

Industry segment sales also were reported. For the first quarter, sales of hospital products and services increased 11 percent to $880 million. Sales of medical systems and specialties increased 9 percent to $370 million. Sales of alternate site products and services increased 16 percent to $290 million. Sales of industrial products increased 25 percent to $95 million.

Operating income of $181 million represents a 21 percent improvement over first quarter 1987, including a 26 percent increase in research and development spending. Operating income, as a percent of sales, was 11.1 percent in first quarter 1988 compared to 10.2 percent in 1987.

Marketing and administrative expenses increased 5 percent compared to a 12 percent increase in sales, reflecting continuing efforts to leverage those costs down.

Other non-operating income in the first quarter of 1988 was $8 million higher than the similar period of 1987, primarily as a result of net gains arising from the disposition of several minor business units and investments. One of these transactions offers the company the potential to receive an additional $115 million contingent on future sales of the divested interest over the next three years.

Baxter Travenol Laboratories, through its domestic and international subsidiaries, develops, manufactures, and markets a diversified line of health-care products systems and services. The company will seek stockholder approval this month to change its name to Baxter International Inc.

North Shore assets increase

Walter A. Kroll, president of North Shore Savings and Loan Assn., reported for the first quarter of 1988 pre-tax earnings exceeding $670,000.00 and net worth over $14 million. Assets have increased to $155.4 million with a regulatory net worth of 10.3 percent.

Hotel names new manager

Hawthorn Suites Associates has named Robert P. Warden, 34, as general manager of its Hawthorn Suites Hotel to open this summer at the Tri-State Tollway and Rte. 22 in Lincolnshire.

This assignment is important to the company, because this 126-suites hotel, aimed at long term stays for families and business people, will be the prototype for other company facilities.

Warden previously served as general manager of the Hawthorn Suites Hotel in Richardson, Texas, which was rated two years in a row by Lodging Hospitality magazine as being among the top 100 suburban hotels in the country for rate and occupancy.

Two banks are part of new money group

Six banks, three of them in Lake County, have been merged into a newly-organized bank holding company called Northern Illinois Financial Corp.

Among the banks in the reorganization are Gurnee National Bank, Wauconda National Bank and Trust Co. and American National Bank and Trust Co. of Waukegan. Others are the First National Bank of Crystal Lake, American National Bank of S. Chicago Heights and the First National Bank of Niles where the holding company currently is headquartered. In the near future the main offices will be moved to Waukegan.

The merger involves six banks formerly held by the Selin Corp. Brenton J. Emerick, chairman of the board of that firm, continues in the same capacity with the new firm.

He emphasized there will be no management, sign or name changes at any of the banks. He and other officers went to great lengths to emphasize the financial institutions will continue to operate as community banks.

"The reorganization is intended to make better use of management talent and financial resources to permit the banks to be more competitive in the current market place," Emerick said.

The six banks have combined assets of $534,371,000, total deposits of $473,613,000 and total loans of $255,707,000.

Largest bank group in Lake County is Northern Trust Bank-Lake Forest with banks in Lake Forest and Lake Bluff and $500 million in assets.

Title of the county's largest bank holding company is expected to shift to the First Midwest Bancorp. Inc. with the pending acquisition of bank properties in Deefield and Buffalo Grove and assets of $180 million.

Nick Farella, Program Director of WKRS-WXLC since 1985, has been named Operations Manager, effective May 1. According to General Manager Hal Coxon, Farella, 39, will assume the day to day operational responsibilities of the two Lake County radio stations while maintaining his position as program director.

Al Vicente, 33, of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, joined the WKRS-WXLC staff on April 1 as General Sales Manager. Vicente has extensive broadcast experience in both radio and TV, most recently running his own consulting firm. His efforts include both large and small media markets.

State Bank appoints vice president, directors

Randolph S. Miles, president of State Bank of Antioch, has announced—on behalf of the board of directors—the appointment of L.M. Woods as vice president of the bank's mortgage lending department.

In addition, Richard A. Gelden and John J. Thelen were elected to the bank's board of directors at the annual meeting of stockholders on April 20.

Woods began his banking career in 1954 with Chautauqua National Bank of Jamestown, N.Y.

In 1960, he took a position as executive vice president and cashier of Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank in Illinois, until 1986 when he joined First National Bank of Antioch as executive vice president. He was appointed president of the bank in January, 1970.

In late 1980, "Woody", as he is known to friends in Antioch, relocated to Branson, Mo., as president of Security Bank and Trust Co. of Branson.

He comes to Antioch from Princeton, Ill.

where he opened an investment office in February, 1982, as a registered representative with Edward D. Jones & Co.

Throughout his career, he has held top positions in banking organizations such as Bank Administration Inst., Lake County Bankers' Federation, Illinois Bankers Assn., Bankers Club of Chicago, Independent Bankers of America and Independent Community Banks of Illinois.

His involvement with community organizations through the years includes Lion's Club International; Chambers of Commerce, Antioch and Branson; Rotary Club International, Antioch; Antioch Planning Commission; Camp Hastings YMCA Board of Directors and two-year chairman; councilman and member, St. Stephen's Lutheran Church; school board member, Antioch Grade School for two three-year terms.

Gelden is owner-operator of Carey-Gelden Electric, Inc., on Main St. in Antioch.

He is an Antioch Community High School graduate, and a member of IBEW as a journeyman-electrician with Local 150 and 22 years.

He was hired by Irving Carey of Carey Electric in 1963, and purchased the electrical contracting firm in 1982.

A native of Lake Villa, Rich and wife Cheryl now reside in Bristol, Wis., with children Wendy and Randy.

John "Jack" Thelen has been a lifelong resident of Lake and McHenry Counties. He has been a resident of Antioch for 17 years, and he currently resides in Antioch Twp. with his wife Debbie and three children, John-13, Jessica-11 and Jennifer-7.

Abbott

the health care industry". Furthermore, annual surveys conducted by Business Week and Fortune consistently rate Abbott one of the top performers in health care.

In the past 100 years, Abbott Laboratories has grown from an austere business where Dr. Abbott made products in his kitchen, into a worldwide company with manufacturing, research and sales facilities in 44 countries. What started as a "cooperative venture with the medical community" now has approximately $4 billion in assets, 40,000 shareholders and more than 37,000 employees.

Perhaps the easiest way to sum up Abbott's financial history is to look at shareholder returns through the years. To put it simply, someone who invested $3,200 for 100 shares in the original Abbott stock offering in 1929 would have owned stock valued at approximately $4 million at the end of 1987 and would have received in excess of $75,000 in the last year alone in dividends.

A square deal, indeed.

Catholic Charities needs your donations for auction

Catholic Charities Senior Community Services is a not-for-profit organization serving seniors of every race, sex, ethnicity and religion in Lake County in a multi-purpose fashion.

In June, Catholic Charity's eight senior centers will proudly host its third annual fundraising auction. The fundraising goal is $10,000. Catholic Charities reaches out to business people and asks them to open their hearts and donate any gift that would be appropriate for the auction.

Due to the economic strain and monetary reduction to social service agencies, Catholic Charities must rely on the general community to make up the financial shortfall. All proceeds from the auction will be used to help continue with its provision of service which directly benefits the elderly in such areas as delivering meals to the homebound, employment training and placement, providing a social environment which prevents isolation, and congregate meals.

Mother's Day brunches and dinners out are reputed to draw more people to partake of restaurant dining than do so any other day of the entire year.

The last few years, the variety of foods offered on the brunch table has made that inbetween meal the most attended on this day.

Many restaurants with varied priced menus serve brunch every Sunday, but not only do just as many others jump on the Mothers' Day bandwagon, the weekly brunchers usually add a few very special items to the menus in Mom's honor.

Reservations for brunch are always a good idea but they are a must this Sunday on Mother's Day or one might find themselves brunching by candlelight.

The very very special brunches (and isn't Mom worth it?) can be found at places like the Hamilton Hotel in Itasca (best in the country), the Schaumburg Marriott and the Abbey in Fontana, Wis. for those who have a bundle of cash or an open credit card.

But there are many fine brunches planned for the average family such as the one at Vics Place in Grayslake for $7.95 per person, starting at 10 a.m.

Mers Restaurant in Wauconda wants $9.95 for adults and $4.95 for kids under 10. This one starts at 10 a.m. and runs until 2:30 p.m.

Maravelas, Fox Lake, will be serving a brunch that features leg of lamb and homemade pastries and there will be four seatings; 10 a.m., noon, 2 and 4 p.m.

The Northern Chalet in Libertyville will be doing brunch from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and a buffet dinner from 1 to 3 p.m. Both meals will be served for $7.95 a person and $4.50 for children, three to 10 years of age.

Andres on the Bay in Fox Lake and Andres Steakhouse in Richmond will be serving regular brunch menus for mother's pleasure.

The Pier Club in Fox Lake's special feature will be crepes and fresh fruit from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

If we didn't mention it, just call your favorite restaurant and see what they have going for everyone's favorite female parent.

On stage

The top notch Goodman Theatre on Columbus Circle in Chicago, will be doing George Feydeau's "A Flea In Her Ear" being previewed now. The regular run starts on May 21.

The popular Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Chicago will premier two new works from May 12 to 15 at the Coronet Playhouse in Evanston.

The Body Politic Theatre, Chicago, will be doing "A Whistle in the Dark," performances Saturday at 5 and 9 p.m.

Be there!

The first 1,000 canoe owners that apply can enter the Des Plaines River Canoe Marathon to be held on Sunday, May 22. The proceeds will go towards beautifying the Des Plaines River Valley. The marathon will begin at Oak Spring Rd. in Libertyville and run (or should we say paddle) for 20 miles to Mt. Prospect. Call (312) 526-9141.

Musical notes

It's swing time at the Chicago Historical Society at 2 p.m. on Sunday, May 22, tenor saxophonist Bud Freeman and his swing quintet will relive the jazz age and its music of the '30s and '40s.

Don't miss Art Thieme, singer, folklorist and his inexhaustible trove of great songs and terrible puns set for Friday, at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., at the David Adler Cultural Center in Libertyville.

Body Works comes to Mundelein

Urban Gateways: Center of Arts in Education will present Body Works: Akasha Dances a Science Lesson, at Mechanics Grove School in Mundelein at 2:30 p.m. Demonstrating their body as focus of unique science lesson, dancers of Body

Works explore skeletal structure beginning with heartbeat and breathing. Urban Gateways has been called "Metropolitan Museum of Arts in Education."

Many ethnic dance groups to appear

St. Irene Byzantine Catholic Church, Hwys. 50 and MB North, Bristol, Wisc., is again sponsoring (last show in 1986 in Kenosha) an Eastern European Folk Dance two-and-a-half-hour show on Sunday, May 15, at 2 p.m. in the beautiful and specious West High Auditorium, 2325 Brookside, Waukegan. The school is four blocks south of Grand Ave. (Rte. 132) on McAre Rd. at Brookside.

Over 130 ethnic dancers will perform in colorful costumes representing the following countries: American-Croatian Waukegan Tamburitzans (if you love Kolo dancing and Croatian music, you will love this group); Czechoslovakia-performing Bohemian, Slovak and Moravian dances; Wesoly Lud Polish Dance Ensemble of the PRCUA from Chicago; Polka Motion Band (Slovenia) from Waukegan; SOKO Serbian Youth Dance Ensemble from Chicago/Waukegan; and the 50-member Ukraina (Ukrainian) Folk Dance Ensemble from Chicago. (They will perform the finale, called the Hopak, in which all members are on the stage leaping, twirling, kicking and creating one of the most spectacular kaleidoscopes ever. There will also be three non-Slavic groups performing. They are St. Demetrios Greek Youth Dancers from St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church, Waukegan; Mullane Irish Step Dancers from Chicago, and the Klumpe Lithuanian Folk Dancers. The Klumpe (wooden shoe) dancers are one of the best Lithuanian dance groups in the midwest. Some of their members reside in the Libertyville/Waukegan area.

Advance tickets are $4 for senior citizens (age 55 and over) and $5 for all others. Advance show tickets can be purchased at the North Shore Savings and Loan, 700 S. Lewis Ave.; the First National Bank of Waukegan and its branch offices in Gurnee and Libertyville; and the Home Federal Savings and Loan and its branch offices in Grayslake, Lindenhurst, Fox Lake, Round Lake Beach and Lake Zurich.

Also at the Croatian Cultural Center, 1102 Sheridan Rd., North Chicago, during its Friday night fish fry.

Tickets that include the show with a dinner/dance celebrating the parish's 10th anniversary will cost $15, and can be purchased by calling (312) 356-2692 by May 8.

The dinner will be at 5:30 p.m. at the Waukegan Moose Lodge Hall, 2755 Washington, Waukegan, located six blocks from the school. The band that will perform are the Golden Strings, from Waukegan.

The mayor of Waukegan has declared May 15 Slavic-American Day in Waukegan, so come on out and celebrate. One does not have to be Slavic to attend and enjoy the show. There will be some ethnic booths on display in the lobby of the school. Anyone missing the yearly International Folk Fair at Navy Pier/Donnelly Hall in Chicago will like this show.

For further information, write to Paul Kaderabek, P.O. Box 51, Bedford Park, Ill. 60499.

Symphony chorus rehearses 'With a Song in Our Hearts'

On Saturday, May 7 at 8 p.m. the Genesee Theatre, 205 N. Genesee St., Waukegan, will be festively decorated with flowers, and "With a Song in Our Hearts," the Waukegan Symphony Chorus and Chamber Singers will burst upon the spring scene for their final concert of the 1987-88 subscription series.

Dir. Don Horisberger has selected a wide assortment of choral music celebrating the spirit of love and praise guaranteed to delight everyone.

Songs of Gershwin and Porter, Negro spirituals, and Randall Thompson's eloquent "The Peaceable Kingdom" for eight-part a cappella chorus are only a few of the selections to be performed by the 100 voice chorus.

Madrigals of 16th Century Europe and 20th Century America will be performed by the Chamber Singers.

Other works slated for performance are Vaughan Williams' "Five Mystical Songs" and Bruckner's "Psalm 150" which the chorus performed at Lincoln Center in New York City last spring.

Guest artists will include James Watson, baritone, and William Crowle, pianist. Frequently heard in opera, concert works and recitals throughout Northern Illinois, Watson has previously appeared with Waukegan Symphony Chorus as soloist in Bach's "B Minor Mass" and Mozart's "Mass in C Minor".

Crowle has appeared in numerous performances including the New Music Ensemble in New York. He is currently organist at Christ United Methodist Church in Deerfield and serves as accompanist for the chorus having appeared as organist for the chorus' Christmas concert last December.

Chorus performances have been hailed "an artistically mature product of experienced choristers, "a glorious sound" and "a beautiful concert experience" by audiences and critics alike.

Tickets are available at the door or in advance at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts, adults $7; seniors, students, and military, $3. For more information, call (312) 244-1660.

Lakeland CINEMA ★★★★★ Review

Duvall and Penn only elements that make 'Colors' fly

by Bill Dotson

✓ YES ★★

"Colors", the controversial film about cops and gangs, has inspired much protest from people who denounce it as an aggravation to the problem of gang violence.

Should we address this issue before getting on with reviewing the movie? Well, in the words of "MASH" character Charles Emerson Winchester: "Uh, thank you, no." After all, we are gathered here today merely to discuss the merits of "Colors" as a movie and so this tedious controversy business is, as the dumb saying goes, "Neither here nor there."

Actually, another gang film from a few years back, "Warriors", came closer to glamorizing gangs with its surrealistic style. However, that artistic approach also made it a better, more original movie than "Colors".

That brings us (finally) to the question that tends to get lost in this controversy- is it a good movie? In the spirit of election year, I have to answer that by using one of my father's favorite sayings: "I feel very strongly both ways."

In "Easy Rider", director Dennis Hopper showed us America in a way nobody else had before. In "Colors", he shows us the world of street gangs, but in a way that other people have before, just as effectively. "Hill St. Blues", for one example, dealt with everything that is covered in "Colors", years earlier and only slightly less graphically.

One of "Colors" cast members serves as a reminder of this. Trinidad Silva, best known as hispanic ex-gang leader Jesus Martinez on "Hill St.", here breaks out of the mold by playing hispanic ex-gang leader 'Frog'. Quite an acting stretch there.

What "Colors" does have on the plus side, though, is superb performances by two of the most underappreciated actors of two generations- Sean Penn and Robert Duvall. Both men bring power and intensity to every role they play. Their relationship is the movie's most interesting element.

True, the theme of "hot dog young cop learning from wiser veteran" has been done before, but the chemistry between these two great talents brings even that old idea across in an interesting way.

Despite the fact that "Colors" does nothing that hasn't been done before, the work of Duvall, Penn, and Hopper still adds enough class to make it worth a look.

'Colors' dull rehash, flies at half-mast

by Gloria Davis

✓ NO ★

After seeing Dennis Hopper's gang war "epic" "Colors", this reviewer has come to the conclusion that all the media hype concerning "how dangerous the picture is because it glorifies teenage gangs," is a publicity gimmick meant to draw an audience to a mediocre picture.

Any gang reactions that take place where the picture is playing are just possibly the results of seeds planted by this bit of Madison Ave. public relations.

If showing kids who are scuzzy looking and high or drunk most of the time disposing of each other is glorification, then the PR is true. If seeing these kids beat-up, blown up, ripped up and thrown down to be handcuffed makes being a member of a teenage gang look like great fun, then the PR is right.

There is a two-part plot of sorts. It all starts with one gang blowing a rival gang member away and then that gang takes care of members of the gang that began the bloody charade and of course the first gang takes retribution and so on and so on and so on.

The other cameo plot shows the relationship of the older sensible cop ready to retire, Robert Duvall, to the young hot dog cop, Sean Penn. I wonder who thought of this unusual twist?

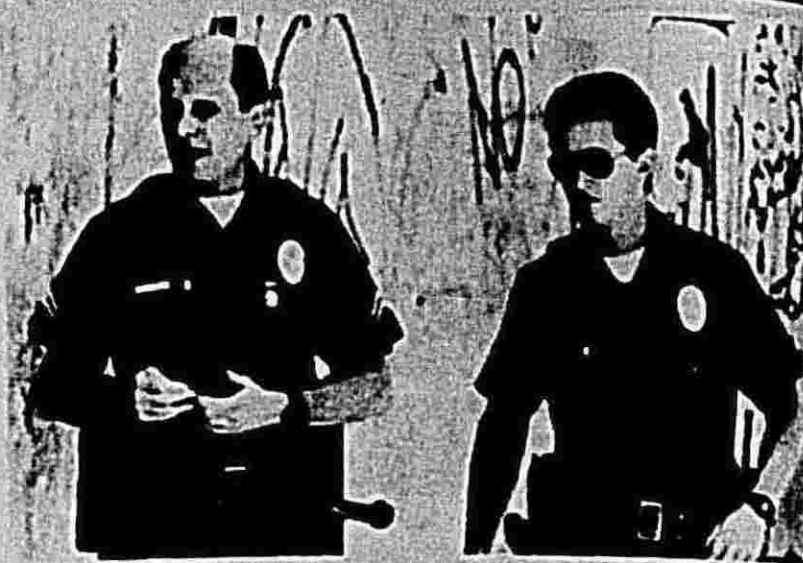

It is refreshing to see policemen looking like real lawmen in their uniforms instead of the scruffy undercover agents we have all become used to since "Serpico." That's where the name of the movie comes from as the commanding officer tells his men in the beginning of the film that they will remain in uniform to show the police colors in relation to the gang colors so the gangs will know the cops are on the job.

There are some hair raising chases, the first one in particular, with Penn driving that are relatively exciting, but ever since "Blues Brothers," seeing dozens of cars crash, especially squad cars, smash, bash, roll over, and fly through the air, ending in a fiery explosion, has also become old hat.

Hopper tosses in a little raw sex between Penn and his ghetto cutie for good measure.

So here we have excitement, violence, sex, all the ingredients for today's super saga, so why doesn't this one work?

Not only is it all mostly rehash but the film is missing a good interesting base plot to tie it together.

Partners on patrol

The controversial film "Colors" stars Robert Duvall (left) and Sean Penn as policemen whose radically different styles cause tension in their partnership as they try to extinguish a gang war.

Student chefs create fine dining experience

The second year culinary arts students at the College of Lake County put their studies to work by serving a sumptuous reception buffet and six-course dinner to friends and relatives.

About 50 people spent three hours enjoying the fine dining experience at the Lake County Area Vocational Center in Grayslake.

Student Phil Manolis of Mundelein served as the event's manager and, along with classmates, coordinated the event from menu choices to advertising and promotion.

The reception buffet featured six hors d'oeuvres, including brie in pine nuts, bacon-wrapped almond dates and tortilla pepper cheese canapes served with a sparkling fruit punch. A popular buffet choice was salmon, poached and decorated by cold food chef Kerry Wilson of Ingleside.

Executive chef Carolyn Vanco, also of Ingleside, coordinated menu development and perfected the recipes throughout several weeks of kitchen testing and tasting.

Guests could choose from chicken Queen Elizabeth or roast tenderloin of beef for the main course, with side dishes of duchesse potato, fresh vegetables, asparagus in puff pastry and avgolemono soup. Vanco, Mary Barnes of Waukegan and Joe Bruno of Fox Lake were responsible for a delectable flourless chocolate cake for dessert.

The decorated dining room and service was overseen by service manager Julie Morris of Mundelein. She was assisted by waiters and waitresses, including Greg Anderson of Vernon Hills, Ed Hutten of Waukegan, Wilson and Manolis.

The students spent eight weeks planning and organizing the dinner under the direction of Cliff Wener, an instructor and coordinator of CLC's food service program.

"I'm very proud of the accomplishments of these students and the teamwork they demonstrated," Wener said after the event. "They worked hard, and after seeing their performance tonight, I know they'll all succeed."

Culinary Arts is one of the options offered in CLC's food service program. It is designed to prepare students for jobs in food preparation. For more information about Culinary Arts or the food service program, contact Wener at (312)223-6601, ext. 543 or 515.

Critic's Choice In... Lakeland

Son of Second City is on the right road

Second City Northwest, the Rolling Meadows offshoot of the venerable Chicago-based satire nightclub, has completed a lengthy warmup in which it reworked classic oldies drawn from past performances and is presenting its first original revue.

If "Pieces of Eight-Eight" or "Life in the Exact Change Lane" is any indication, the company still has some maturing to do—but it's definitely on the right track.

Some skits were too long, like "Bum", in which Tim O'Malley, the businessman, strikes up an unlikely friendship with David Pasquesi, a panhandler. And others, such as the improvisation sequence (always a challenge for the most experienced comedians), are a little rough around the edges.

But there are nuggets of gold, as in "Rush Street", a skit in which the cast transforms the stage into a typical '80s disco, complete with some of the vapid personalities who inhabit such watering holes.

Similarly, Mark Beltzman turns in an inspired performance as "Grandpa", who is wooed by Fran Adams, much to the shock and amazement of Ruth Rudnick. Beltzman also shines in his part during the "Rest Home" skit.

The six-member cast generally has its strong qualities. (For sure, you'll never see an apple juggling scene like the one that closes Act One.)

The musical numbers are great fun, although sometimes the words are drowned out. And in some skits it seems there's a tendency for the timing to be slightly off.

Nevertheless, the promise is there. Eventually, Second City Northwest could achieve the same stature as its parent.

"Pieces of Eight-Eight" is presented Friday and Saturday at 8 and 10:30 p.m. Tickets are $8.50 each, and improvisations, at 12:15 a.m., are free.

There's something for everyone in Bahamas

by Dennis O'Brien
There is a resort for almost any taste and any pocketbook in the Bahamas, and there are so many different travel packages that even the most luxurious hotel is within reach—depending on season or special promotion.

The variety of accommodations is almost bewildering—from the stately British colonial atmosphere of the Royal Bahamian Hotel to the luxurious two-story family villas called "Villas in Paradise". For those who crave a bit more razzle-dazzle, there is the Paradise Island Resort and Casino or the Cable Beach Hotel, both of which have huge, Las Vegas style casinos and the shows to go with them. The U.S. dollar is at a par with the Bahamian dollar and is accepted everywhere. Prices for meals and entertainment are about the same as in the U.S. Another plus—the Bahamas are easy to reach from uncrowded Midway Airport via Midway Airlines. The Bahamas is a chain of 700 islands just 50 miles off the coast of Florida. What the tourist sees most of is the capitol city of Nassau and the famous Cable Beach. About 2 miles from downtown Nassau, a 1500-foot-long bridge crosses the water to pencil-shaped Paradise Island where many of the newer resorts have been built.

Wherever you stay, you are close to a white beach, azure blue water and all the water sports as well as tennis and golf. Many of the hotels, like the Holiday Inn, have catamarans and other boats guests can use without additional charge. For nighttime entertainment, Las Vegas style shows are put on at Le Cabaret Theater and Cable Beach Casino. Both productions are lavishly mounted and worth seeing.

Shopping is a must in the Bahamas. Start with the famous straw market in downtown Nassau, then check out the bargains in the shops and hotels. Particularly intriguing are offerings of emeralds, 90 percent of which are mined and hand cut in Columbia. Polished emeralds run from $75 to $800 a carat. If you shop carefully, you can pick up good buys in perfume, liquor, watches, crystal and china. But know U.S. prices first so you can compare. George Washington called the Bahamas the "isles of perpetual June" because of the superb year-around weather. That's just one more reason for visiting a place where scenery is idyllic and tropical blossoms leave a sweet fragrance in the air.

Sailing time nears for cruise

May 14 will be the day to say bon voyage to readers who signed up for the Lakeland Newspapers' sponsored cruise. There are still a few days left for those who have been wishing and wondering whether they should join the group.

Here, in a nutshell, are the four basic reasons to take advantage of the opportunity. — the price—so low we can't advertise it. The cost includes airfare and will be less than just the price of a resort hotel. — the destinations—Puerto Vallarta, Mazatlan and Cabo San Lucas—are three of Mexico's most beautiful ports. — the ship—the Stardancer, one of the newest, most luxurious cruise ships afloat. Where you can do everything, or nothing, at your whim. — the company—cruisers come in all ages and from all backgrounds, from families to retired couples to singles. There will be people aboard just like you.

As long as there's space available, the special Lakeland price still holds and Lakeland's travel editors will tell you how to make reservations. Just call them at (312) 724-7354. And to all of you who are already set to sail, we at Lakeland Newspapers wish you the happiest and most exciting vacation you ever had.

Opening the program on both shows will be singer and instrumentalist Dave Landreth.

Critton Hollow comprises Joe Fallon on bass, guitar, banjo and vocals; Joe Herrmann on fiddle, mandolin, guitar, banjo and vocals; and Sam Herrmann on hammered dulcimer, guitar, vocals and mandolin.

Set Critton Hollow to start toes tapping

Audiences will be tapping their toes and singing along at the David Adler Cultural Center as the Critton Hollow string band members bring their old-time music onstage for two shows on Saturday, May 14 at 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.

From its home in the eastern panhandle of West Virginia, Critton Hollow has taken its music to audiences across the U.S. and Canada, sharing the musical traditions of Appalachia and tempering them with their own contemporary style.

The band is noted for its excellent instrumentation and outstanding vocal harmonies, and a repertoire including driving old-time songs and fiddle tunes, sensitive ballads, and traditional and contemporary folk songs. They have recorded two albums on the Yodel-Ay-Hee label, and their latest, "By and By," is on Flying Fish.

Cancun, Mexico's paradise beach resort

by JIM WARNKEN

President, North Star Travel, Inc.
Anyone interested in a vacation spot boasting uncrowded white sand beaches, crystal clear waters, no rainy season and less than a three and one-half hour plane ride away? The place is Cancun.

As a service to my readers, I felt it necessary to fly down and explore this land of beaches and sun. I'm not one who likes manmade tourist attractions. Though Cancun (pronounced Concan) was planned by the Mexican Tourist Agency, the natural beauty here was not created by man.

The city of Cancun is not likely to be the location of your resort. True, there are some bargain hotels in the city, but you're a 20-minute bus ride from any beaches.

Plan your stay in what is known as the hotel zone, or "Zona Turistica". This is a 15-mile-long 1/4-mile-wide island connected to the mainland by bridges. The front yard of your hotel will be the Caribbean. The back will be the crystal clear Laguna Bojorquez. Cancun's rigid building codes should prevent this area from losing its natural beauty like many other beach resorts. Hotels are not on top of each other and you'll find no neon lights.

The island is "L" shaped. If you want to be close to shopping, restaurants and nightspots, choose a hotel on the shorter east-west part of the "L". These hotels also face the calmer waters of the bay.

If you want a little more seclusion, try something on the south end of the island. A warning, though. If you go much further south than the Sheridan, you'll have to contend with construction and a skyline of cranes. Much of that end of the island is just beginning to be developed. Resorts on the north-south leg face the ocean, with stronger waves than the bay.

Remember the warning "don't drink the water in Mexico?" No worry here. A brand new filtration plant was constructed to supply purified tap water. My only advice would be to avoid food from street vendors. (But I'd say that about Chicago, too).

Ever dreamed of staying in a thatched-roofed hut on an uninhabited beach, with servants to prepare your meals? Next week I'll let you in on my secret hideaway very near Cancun!

AN AUTO ACCIDENT IS A SERIOUS MATTER

We hope it won't happen to you... But if it does the incident should not be taken too lightly. Many times even when an auto accident produces much damage to your car and you are able to walk away there is a tendency to think you are O.K. However, when you have an accident that involves speeds usually greater than 5 m.p.h. soft tissue injury can occur that may produce headaches, dizziness, neck pain, arm and shoulder pain, numbness or tingling and backache. Those are signs that there is a problem and that you should have some care. If you have been unfortunate and had an accident make a change and take care of yourself. Auto accidents do not need to result in a tragic outcome. It is possible to be walking around with a broken neck and not know it. So don't wait if you have had an accident. Call today for an appointment and get the care you deserve.

Form golf tour

The Professional Golf League of Illinois will kickoff its first season June 10 with a tournament at the Oak Golf Course in Hoffman Estates. Based on the concept of the average golfer with the handicap to simulate Players Golf competition, Chicago's handicap system (ranging from 0 to 30) will now truly feel the pressure as they play for money. Utilizing Chicago's season will consist of several events. A 36 hole championship will determine overall money winners. The tour's stops will include one in Fox Lake Country Club.

wins sign Banks

Banks, the Minnesota Twins draft pick in the 1987 June draft, has been assigned to the Kenosha team at Elizabethtown in the Appalachian (rookie) League. Last year at Elizabethtown in the Appalachian (rookie) League, Banks used his 90 MPH plus fastball to throw out 71 batters in 66 innings. The third player selected overall in the draft, has been compared to the late Dwight Gooden by some baseball scouts. Other scouts have said Banks has the same "tools" to work with as Gibson did when he was a star. Banks, 19, is a graduate of Anthony High School in Jersey City, New Jersey. He earned all-American honors as a pitcher and was a member of the school's state championship team.

Giving best shot

Sweeping 'important' week brings Mundelein close to championship

Back in February, when it was snowing and basketball occupied center stage, Mundelein softball Coach Jim deRivera may have looked at the schedule for the upcoming year.

Mother Nature made some changes, but in the end it was: April 25, New Trier, home, 4:30 p.m.; April 26, Libertyville, home, 4:30 p.m.; April 28, Libertyville, home, 4:30 p.m.; April 30, Warren (doubleheader) home, 10:30 a.m.

And in late April, when spring finally won out over winter, that week would indeed be important. Mundelein, one of the top softball teams in the state, showed why, winning all five games and leaving the rest of the North Suburban Conference in its dust with an 8-0 record.

"This was an important week for us," deRivera said.

In beating the Wildcats 14-2 and 4-0 and Warren 6-1 and 5-1, the Mustangs defeated two teams which had previously shared top NSC billing with Mundelein.

The Mustangs travel to North Chicago May 7 for a doubleheader and eight NSC teams are betting the Warhawks, winless entering this week, can make a miracle happen and knock off the Mustangs.

Mundelein ace Susan Musselwhite was the winner in the first game against the Blue Devils. Pitching on a day when several Mundelein players were ill and could not enjoy a 70-degree day which had the fans in short sleeves instead of winter coats, the junior allowed just three hits and two walks while striking out six.

Becker, Smith lead CLC to state meet

The College of Lake County's tennis team, unlike previous years, does not have plans to participate in the NJCAA national tournament in Tyler, Texas.

"You can't go to Texas every year," CLC men's tennis Coach Lance Laverty said as his team prepared for this weekend's region IV state championship in Rockford.

Laverty said only individuals in the first singles and doubles divisions may qualify as individuals and the Lancers' best strength lies at No. 3 doubles.

Jason Becker, of Winthrop Harbor and Eric Smith of Zion come into the state tournament with an overall record of 8-2, 5-2 in the Skyway Conference meets.

"They have a pretty good chance of going far," Laverty said.

The Lancers are not coming into the tournament off the best of times, though. They scored just four points at the Skyway Conference tournament and then lost to Sauk Valley and Rock Valley in winning just one of 20 sets.

"I'm a little disappointed. Two of the six guys did not show when we left (for Skyway meet in Sugar Grove) and it always hurts when you have to default.

Shelton selects Salukis

Warren Twp. High School baseball player Derek Shelton is sporting Southern Illinois University at Carbondale caps and t-shirts these days.

And with good reason, as the Warren senior has decided to attend the Carbondale university on a baseball scholarship.

Shelton, a three-sport letterwinner at Warren, plays catcher for the Blue Devils. Just what position he would play for the Salukis is up for grabs. Shelton said he could end up playing third base or outfield.

Shelton, who played quarterback for the football team and point guard for the basketball squad, is batting better than .500 for Warren.

Also at Warren, girls basketball co-captain Terri Ingalls has decided to play for the University of Wisconsin-Parkside. Ingalls was the Most Valuable Player on the Blue Devil team which was 27-4, winning the North Suburban Conference, regional and sectional title en route to an Elite Eight appearance.

Diving in safely

St. Joseph base runner dives back to first base ahead of pickoff try by Carmel first baseman Scott Stahoviak. Carmel opened East Suburban Catholic Conference season by gaining split in doubleheader against Chargers.

Pool is a sport, too, players say

On the evenings of April 18 through 21, Roy's Long Lake Inn and A.J.'s Honky Tonk Pub played their annual pool grudge match. Alternating play between Roy's in Long Lake and A.J.'s in Round Lake the competition was tight.

Players ranged in age from 21-years-old to people in their 60s. With 50 men and women battling it out on the tables, the tension was high. Some of the best pool players in Lake County participate in this year's end grudge match. Participants come from the Round Lake Area, Buffalo Grove, Highland Park, Waukegan and Mundelein.

Jan Baczek, owner of A.J.'s commented, "it's time the game be observed as a sport like any other, not as a smoke filled, backroom degenerate situation. And that tavern people who run it, along with the participants be recognized as patrons of the game they love".

Roy Acuff, owner of Roy's Long Lake Inn, which is the Lake County headquarters for the National Pocket Billiard Assn. was enthusiastic about the level of competition. "It's going to be a very close match, but I've got the best players," he said with confidence. Acuff has been a long-time supporter of organized pool for men and women alike.

The senior member of Roy's team is Lorraine Smith of Twin Lakes, Wis. A silver haired grandmotherly woman, Smith has been shooting pool for 20 years. She started one of the first organized leagues in Twin Lakes. "My son and daughter taught me to play. I've got to get away from the old man sometimes. It's a nice night out," Smith said.

Roy's ended up winning the trophy and bragging rights for another year late April 21.

Little league starts fresh

The 39th annual Opening Day Ceremony for the Antioch Youth Baseball started with a bang, as the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars raised the flag and gave a 21-gunsalute.

After a prayer given by Father Vincent J. Eckholm, emcee Doug Lang introduced the Antioch Youth Baseball Executive Board.

The first game saw Provencial Custom Honres defeating the First National Bank. The second game saw an exciting girls game won by Murphy Excavating over Heath. Baskin & Robbins and Lyons and Ryon fought to a 13-13 tie.

Northbrook grounds. Northbrook is the only club in the Midwest with such facilities.

continue to work hard after tough losses," Prorock, whose was 6-11 overall to start the week,

The head coach said the Panthers, started the season without a starter, are gaining confidence in their abilities.

"We have a young ballclub and without one starter back, it will take some time," Prorock said.

Senior Tim Unroe is the leading Panther hitter, batting better than .600. Don Binchi is at .350 and Tom Donohoe is also contributing over .300. "We're starting to hit better as a club," the coach said.

Comeback efforts were the name of the game in two of the three Round Lake wins.

Against Grant, the Panthers started the seventh inning trailing 6-4 but scored two runs to tie the game and send it into extra innings. A Todd Collis single and Chris Cooper double accounted for the winning run.

Bill Thomas was the winning pitcher in both NWSC victories.

Unroe was the hitting star at Marengo, connecting in all four at bats.

"The Marengo win was big for us," Prorock said.

After losing the first game 4-0 and trailing in the second 5-0 in the seventh inning, one would not blame Round Lake for surrendering to the Scouts.

But instead of surrender, the Panthers rallied, scoring five runs in an inning which started with two walks.

Patriots kickers aim to improve

The first girls state soccer tournament may be a few weeks off, but Stevenson's squad will have a chance to get in some tournament experience a little early.

The Patriots, 6-5-1 heading into this week, compete in the Highland Park eight-team tournament and will be looking to keep their record above .500.

Looking to improve as the season goes on," Coach Tom said.

Heley said the Patriots have been improving of late after starting the year against such top-notch foes as Libertyville and Evanston.

Karen Butler continues to be strong in goal for the Patriots, who battle Niles North in North Suburban Conference play before the Highland Park tournament.

Offensively, the scoring has been pretty well evenly distributed, the coach said.

Defensively, Carrie Kappleman and Kristen Gregory are leading the way.

Heartbreaking game ends season for CLC softball squad

Simply put, the way the College of Lake County exited from this year's sectional tournament was heartbreaking.

The Lancers were just one out away from extra innings when they faced McHenry with the score tied 0-0 in the seventh inning. A McHenry player hit a seemingly easy grounder, but the CLC second baseman overthrew the first baseman. McHenry 1, CLC 0.

"It was picked up cleanly but the ball just sailed over the first baseman's head," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said.

The loss was the second to the Scots in the tournament, who had eliminated CLC last year. McHenry, which had already lost in the double elimination tournament, won 5-2 earlier.

In that game, CLC took a 2-0 lead in the first on an RBI single by Jill Tegtmeier. A single by Pam Wignot scored the other run.

McHenry was held scoreless, until the sixth inning when they scored four times, taking advantage of three CLC errors. The visitors added another run in the seventh.

The tournament

started on a bright note for the Lancers, as they edged Harper 7-6. CLC scored two in the first and five in the fifth while the Hawks did not score until the sixth inning.

Kelly Hanson, Debbie Scoggin and Tegtmeier put together back-to-back singles to score the first run. The second scored on a throwing error.

CLC starting pitcher Lisa Gowe had to overcome 13 walks in order to pick up the win.

"I thought Lisa could handle Harper and I wanted to save Jill for the McHenry game," Garcia said.

Earlier, the Lancers, who finished 8-4 in the Skyway Conference, CLC beat Oakton twice but lost to Morton.

The Lancers finished the season with three non-conference games this week.

Three of CLC's sophomores - Scoggin,

Tegtmeier and Hanson will be playing in an all-star game on May 7 in Rock Valley. CLC's Garcia will be the team's coach.

Brace shines again, notches fourth one-hitter

Halfway to a title.

That's what the Grant softball team accomplished with a 7-0 shutout of Grayslake Monday in a key Northwest Suburban Conference game. The two teams came into the game both undefeated in NWSC play.

The difference for the Bulldogs was pitcher Becky Brace. The talented junior struck out 14 more batters, bringing her total to an even 100 for the season. She allowed Grayslake just one hit, a blooper in the fifth inning by Denise Schlung.

That marked the pitcher's fourth one-hit game of the season.

"She's real fast and she had control. We've never seen a pitcher that fast," Grayslake Coach Elaine Frantz said.

"She threw the ball so hard it was in the cat-cher's glove by the time they swung the bat," Grant Coach Sue Richardson said.

The Bulldogs improved to 6-0 in the NWSC with the win and will host Marian Central May 9. Grayslake, now 4-1, is at Round Lake May 9.

Grant used an all-singles attack to post the win over the Rams. Janet Selle and Linda Brace both had two hits and a RBI. Leslie Moroz, Chris Scott and Becky Brace all had one hit each.

Mothe Nature had put a dent in Grayslake's schedule, cancelling two league games. The Rams 7-5 overall, did beat Waukegan West 17-7.

Grayslake scored four runs in the first and third innings but a seven-run sixth gave the Rams the win on the 10-run rule.

Alice Norton was the winning pitcher, striking out eight batters and scattering 13 hits.

Kristi Blasius was two-for-three, Stephanie Caliendo two-for-two and Laura Phillips and Norton both had one hit.

Carmel nine facing tough ESCC tests

Carmel's fate in the East Suburban Catholic Conference baseball race will largely be decided by the end of May 7.

The Corsairs face Joliet Catholic in a home doubleheader. After those games, just four contests remain on the league season.

"This will be a good test for us. We have to play our best baseball if we are to succeed in the ESCC," Carmel Coach Joe Pudlosaid.

That means an improved defense. Carmel committed four errors in a loss to Holy Cross and five errors in a loss to Barrington Tuesday.

When the Corsairs win, the error numbers are down. They committed one miscue in a 9-2 win over St. Patrick and no errors in beating Holy Cross 11-0 in the second game of the doubleheader.

Carmel, 16-6 overall and 3-3 in the ESCC, had the second straight Saturday fate against Holy Cross as they had a week before against St. Joseph.

In the first game, Holy Cross jumped off to a 7-1 lead before Carmel tried to rally with four runs in the seventh.

"That momentum really carried over into the second game," Pudlo said.

Indeed. The Corsairs shocked the visitors with five in the first and three in the second so Holy Cross trailed 8-0 before it realized what happened.

Shawn Chambers allowed just two hits in picking up the win.

Carmel continued its hot bats against St. Patrick, gaining a 10-5 edge in hits.

Carmel scored five runs in the second inning to take the lead for good. Eric Bruksch had a RBI ground out, Ricky Splitt had a two-RBI single and Randy Splitt clubbed a two-RBI home run.

Pat Halverson picked up the win for the Corsairs to raise his record to 3-1. "He struggled early but pitched his way out of several jams," Pudlo said.

Myths, gifts make Mother's Day great

All around the world, people share in a common bond with their mothers. On one day each year, affectionately referred to as Mother's Day, they take time to recognize and celebrate their mother's attributes.

The tradition of Mother's Day began in the United States, then the idea spread worldwide. Now, this holiday is honored in countries both large and small.

Many stories and myths have been written and passed down about Mother's Day. These stories have endured the test of time, fostering some of today's most honored traditions.

For example, children in the U.S. make a homemade breakfast for mother to enjoy while relaxing in bed. Others create little gifts for mom or surprise her by helping dad prepare dinner. Some say "I love you" with a handmade card and a bouquet of red roses. This year alone, over 30 million roses will be sold in the U.S., which if placed end to end, would create a path halfway around the world.

The custom of honoring mothers with family get-togethers, floral gifts, and specially crafted projects actually began thousands of years ago.

It is believed the first myths about Mother's Day celebrations and gifting were told by ancient people of Phrygia in Asia Minor. The most important goddess of all was Cybele, the daughter of heaven and earth. She was the mother of all gods. Once a year, the people of Phrygia held a joyous festival to honor Cybele. A designated area of the town was decorated with beautiful arrangements of vibrant roses, multi-colored flowers and tribal ornaments. Many people attended, and good food, music, dancing and fellowship was plentiful. History dictates this was the first celebration to honor a mother, and when the men of Phrygia visited other countries, they told about their mother/goddess.

In their travels, they found the Romans also had a mother of all gods. She was Magna Mater, or Great Mother. Each year, beginning on the to present to their mothers.

In 1864, during the Civil War, Anna Jarvis of Grafton, W. Va., was born. Solon after Anna reached the age of one, the war ended. But there was still much hatred within the families in West Virginia. Sometimes one brother fought "someone" to make her mother's wish come true. Anna gave up her job and spent all of her time speaking and writing in hopes of initiating a proclamation for Mother's Day. Anna received so much mail that her home would not hold all the correspondence. She had to buy the house next door. Finally, in 1914, President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day.

In 1914, other countries began designating Mother's Day as the second Sunday in May. Today, the list includes Denmark, Finland, Italy, Turkey, Australia and Belgium.

Norway observes Mother's Day on the second Sunday in February, and Argentina on the second Sunday in October, while Lebanon's official recognition falls on the first day of spring. Yugoslavia, Japan, South Africa and India also commemorate Mother's Day.

No matter the date, not all countries observe Mother's Day in the same manner.

In Spain and Portugal, Mother's Day is Dec. 8. Tribute is paid to the Virgin Mary, the Mother of Jesus. Children honor their mothers by presenting them with gifts of white roses, signifying strength and devotion.

Also on that day, a group of young people visit the president's wife, presenting her with a bouquet of red roses and mixed flowers, and greeting from every boy and girl in the land.

The last Sunday in May is celebrated much like a family birthday for French mothers. From grandparents to the youngest children, everyone gathers around the family dining table for dinner. At the end of the meal, a beautiful cake decorated with a bouquet of roses is presented to the mother.

15th of March, there was a three-day celebration to honor her, called the Festival of Hilaria. People brought gifts to the temple, built in praise of this powerful mother/goddess.

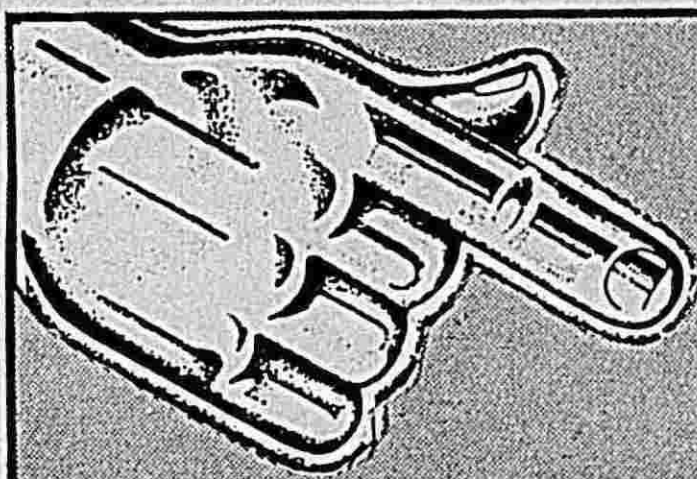

In time, Christianity brought many changes to Rome. No longer was the mother/goddess honored. Instead, a celebration was held to honor "Mother Church".

During the Middle Ages, the entire family attended church together. After church, the minister gave the children bunches of purple violets and red roses for the Northern side, while another fought for the South.

Anna's mother was very unhappy about this hatred. Her mother said many times that she hoped "sometime, somewhere, someone will found a Mother's Day." Mrs. Jarvin was sure that if a family honored their mothers on a special day, the brothers would forget about the fighting.

After Anna finished college, she and her mother moved to Philadelphia. When Mrs. Jarvis died, Anna promised herself that she would be the

'Grass tax' will hit drug dealers hard

State Sen. David N. Barkhausen (R-Lake Bluff) of the 30th district said he expects the Senate Revenue Committee to shortly consider the legislation he has proposed for enforcement of the 'grass tax' he sponsored last year.

Barkhausen's SB 2127 will give the Department of Revenue specific powers to impose liens against the property of persons caught with supplies of illegal drugs, allowing the department to seize and sell real estate, cars and other possessions to satisfy an owner's unpaid tax and penalties.

"The Illinois grass tax law was modeled after Minnesota's successful tax on illegal drugs, which has amounted to about $20 million in the less than two years it has been in effect," Barkhausen said. "Our law does not contain specific enforcement provisions, although they are certainly implied. This additional measure is designed to give the Department of Revenue explicit powers it may need to effectively enforce the tax on supplies of illegal drugs."

Barkhausen said the charge of failure to pay the grass tax has been made in number of recent drug assests, including several where the value of the drugs confiscated exceeded $1 million. "Since the amount due from grass tax evaders is the tax that they should have paid plus a penalty of four times that amount, enforcement can be a source of considerable new revenue for the state," he observed. "For example, a dealer caught with a kilogram of cocaine would owe the unpaid tax of $250,000 in addition to penalties, a total of $1.25 million collectible by the state.

"With strict enforcement, the law will come down hard on drug dealers and they will no longer be able to live like kings on the profits of their illegal trade," Barkhausen said.

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Set a pace for yourself and keep to it.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Real dangers exist in your personal life. Proceed with caution. Refrain from upsetting situations by refusing to be drawn into unpredictable circumstances.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Dealings in long-term professional matters could prove fatal. Ask for assistance. Think long and hard before deciding to make waves on the homefront.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Learn to believe that obstacles you encounter can be overcome. Hurt and anger are two emotions you must conquer to persevere socially.

Cancer (June 21-July 20) Quiet the complaints of your friends by spending time with them. Forge ahead with new plans which will necessitate a reorganization of family life.

Leo (July 21-Aug. 22) The desire for a new friendship should be met soon if you cooperate. Taking a break from your hectic social life will certainly help improve finances.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Everything is coming up roses for you now. Emotional ties and career friends are willing to assist you. Be able to unwind when it is called for.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Involve yourself in your travel or business plans for best results. Stand firm on your grounds during an argument. Don't be tempted into shaky deals.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) An associate with a one-way mind for greed is not to make you stumble; be careful. Under any circumstances, never compromise yourself for this one.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Relatives seem to be telling you how to lead your life now, but be firm. Bide your time and do the utmost to diffuse potentially explosive situations.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something seems to have gone wrong, and you are now expected to prove just how devoted you really are. Do it, and take it in stride.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Look to your close friends for the support you need in your campaigns. Socializing should be your last priority now. Think of family needs first.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Devote your attention to your own wants and needs, and let others fend for themselves for a while. Stabilize your finances where this is possible.

If you were born this week, you must remember that impatience is not a virtue. The pent-up energy you often have on reserve is a great motivating force for yourself and others, but it must be channeled in the right directions. This minor shortcoming is one of only a few, for you are popular and well-liked. Your life should be a content and happy one. ©1988, McNaught Synd.
